Formosa Score 221 Jap Planes and 35 Ships

By Associated Press War Editor

Strong formations of U. S. carrier planes sweeping to within 100 miles of the China coast destroyed 221 Japanese planes, sank or damaged 35 ships and bombed Formosa from end to end, Adm. Nimitz announced today. The attack Wednesday (U. S. time) was the heaviest blow in a series of daring strikes this week along more than 2000 miles of Japan's inner defense line which included new carrier raids on the Philippines and destruction of vital oil refineries at Balikpapan, Borneo.

Adm. Nimitz reported the following score in the Formosa raids:

Sunk:
Two large cargo ships, two medium cargo ships, 12 small cargo ships.

Damaged:
Two large cargo ships, seven medium cargo ships, 10 small cargo ships.

Of the planes destroyed on Formosa 124 were shot down and 97 wrecked on the ground.

In addition, extensive damage was done to hangars, buildings, oil dumps, warehouses, docks and industrial establishments at Eimansho, Okayama, Tamsui, Heito, Reigaro and Taichu.

Tokyo reported today the Pacific fleet struck for the fifth time in five days with a repeat performance over Formosa Thursday (U. S. time).

The raids on the Philippines, Formosa, the Ryukyu Islands and Marcus, cost the Japanese 310 planes destroyed, 93 surface craft sunk or damaged, and demonstrated the fleet's ability to strike almost simultaneously at widely scattered targets.

The Japanese fleet failed to give battle. Nimitz said no American ships were damaged. The only losses he has listed in his incomplete reports were 22 American planes shot down over Formosa.

Nimitz made no mention of land-based planes. He said Vice-Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier planes concentrated on the southwestern corner of Formosa, Japanese staging base for defense of the Philippines. They also hit the Taichu rail center near the middle of the island and Tamsui on the northwest coast. The admiral reported "extensive damage" to military and industrial targets.

Thirty-two other planes were shot down over Balikpapan by waves of fighter-escorted Liberators which Gen. MacArthur said probably permanently wrecked the cracking plant and heavily damaged the paraffin refinery.

Explosions and fires sent smoke curling four miles into the air. Fighters, in their first flight over Borneo, made 1500-mile round trips.

The day before the Formosa strike, Nimitz said, "large force of carrier aircraft" again hit Luzon, most important island of the Philippines. Details were lacking. Presumably the planes concentrated on shipping and air-dromes around Manila.

Some 500 miles east of the Philippines Yank soldiers occupied Arimasuku, the 12th island to be taken in the Palau group. They were unopposed.

Chinese belatedly acknowledged the loss of Foochow, last port city on the east coast opposite Formosa, and admitted only 60 miles separate Japanese forces overrunning the Manchuria-Hongkong railway.

A Japanese column broke into Kwei-ping, 70 miles southeast of the U. S. air base at Luchow.

In Southwest Burma British beat off an artillery supported counterattack east of the enemy's Tiddim base.

ON AACHEN FRONT—Arrows show American and German drives in the Aachen area, including Yank thrust into factory district on northeastern edge of the city. Germans counter-attacked near Haaren and Bardenberg and threw swarms of fighter planes against Yank lines around the city.

Yanks Battle in Streets Amid Ruins of Aachen

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—American infantry fought street by street today into the northeastern factory district of Aachen, a city bombed and burned while the Germans rolled up an effort to relieve the city.

The appearance of a fresh German armored division, shifted from the Arnhem sector in Holland, stirred expectation that a major tank battle would soon be joined.

Aachen was dissolving under the weight of American shells and bombs, but there was no sign of a break in the 1500 to 2000 Nazi SS troops who fought from the rubble and the sewers.

To the northeast of the smoke-hidden city the Germans mounted a heavy counterattack in the Bardenberg area. Fighting intensified, too, at Wurselen and Haaren, the tips of the Allied spearheads crowding the thin escape hatch toward Cologne.

The end for Aachen seemed inevitable but there was no telling how long the battle would last.

The Allies improved their positions in Holland. Signs appeared that Marshal Von Rundstedt was preparing a stiff defense in southwestern Holland, despite reports of destruction of Rotterdam's docks.

Correspondents said the Germans were strengthening forces near the Schelde estuary, possibly for a major attack against the Canadian First Army to retain approaches to Antwerp. Planes spotted heavy German traffic moving west from Tilburg toward Breda and destroyed 31 vehicles.

Considerable movement was noted on the western waterways, where planes damaged 50 barges. British forces lunged a mile forward from the right flank of their Dutch salient pointed toward Arnhem and moved within 10 miles of the German border. The advance was south of captured Overloon.

North of Metz, Patton's American Third Army was lighting the Germans, hand-to-hand in the streets of Meiseric les Metz. The remnants of the Third Army front, including the underground battle for El. Driant, was unchanged, a field dispatch said.

East of Lunenburg, the Third Army captured the French town of Parroy and pushed to the Parroy river.

At the southern end of the western front, the communiques said the American Seventh and French First armies "have made substantial gains" over "neglected country" in the Epinal-Belfort sector, between the Vosges and Alps mountains.

Tregaskis in Aachen

By RICHARD TREGASKIS

INSIDE AACHEN, Oct. 13 (INS)—The first American troops pushed across the railroad tracks into the city of Aachen at 9:29 a. m. today. Correspondents followed at noon.

I am now two blocks inside the shell and bomb-blackened city and the foremost military elements are a few hundred yards ahead.

Sniper bullets are zinging through the streets occasionally.

Our men are moving cautiously ahead in a duel of small arms firing.

From here, in a former school building, every house appears smashed. There is no building without windows broken or many are crushed in from the roof down. There is no German artillery fire and the doughboys say they haven't had any yet, but there is plenty of small arms fire.

Occasionally one hears the rapid sound of a German machine gun so fast it sounds like tearing paper. Then there's a fusillade of our own automatic weapons and an American tank in a little square near here lets go with a blast of three or four rounds in the direction of the house from which the enemy firing comes.

IT'S A GIRL—Here's proof for Lt. John Bryant, now fighting near Aachen, that he's the daddy of a daughter and that (as you can see) mother and babe are doing fine at LaGrange, Ga. The officer had asked front line newsmen to find out if he was a papa yet, that it was about time and he hadn't heard.

Red Army Storms Into East Prussia

By DANIEL DeLUCE

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (AP)—Russian tanks and infantry stormed the centuries-old Junkers' lands of East Prussia, nine miles northeast of Tilsit today, while in doomed Hungary the victorious Red army raced for the 160-mile-distant Austrian frontier.

(A Paris broadcast heard by Reuters today said "the Russians are reported to have crossed the East Prussian border at three different points.")

Hungary's admission of defeat was expected hourly. Russian columns were converging on Budapest along the main rail lines, 60 miles east of the capital and reportedly less than that on the south. All major communications between Hungary and Serbia were reported in Russian hands.

Willing Hungarian resistance all along the invasion front seemed to substantiate diplomatic hints that the exhausted satellite nation was about to quit Hitler.

The mop-up of Hungary was counted on to prepare the springboard for the invasion of Austria as well as to assure early liberation of the Croatian and Slovenian areas of Yugoslavia, and to pinch off the Germans in Slovakia.

(Meanwhile, Turkish sources said Berlin had urged Austrians to dig for their lives in a frenzy of frontier spade-work near Vienna and added that all able-bodied men and women in the Vienna region were at or on their way to the diggings after a mass call-up of age groups between 16 and 65.)

Tell of Hungary Armistice Plea 5th Troops Nab 300 Nazis in Italy

LONDON, Oct. 13 (INS)—Hungary has asked the Allies for an armistice, the London radio reported today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (INS)—Armistice terms formulated by the United States, Britain and Russia have been "wholly accepted" by the Bulgarian government, the Tass (Soviet) Agency reported today.

Reds Take Over Finnish Port

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Soviet troops have occupied the port of Linahamari, in the Petsamo area of northern Finland, a Berlin broadcast said today.

The Petsamo area was turned over to Russia under terms of Finland's armistice with the Soviet Union.

ROME, Oct. 13 (AP)—Heavy fighting flared up in the hills along the Florence-Bologna road today following yesterday's massive air assault on German positions and installations south of Bologna.

Allied headquarters announced that Fifth Army troops took more than 300 prisoners in the new assault in the central Italian sector.

FAMILY OF HUDSON BOY—Anxiously waiting word of their son and brother are (l. to r.) Mrs. Florence Rollins, Frances, 3, in her lap; William B. Rollins, father; Melvin, 4, and Mildred, 10.

Brothers Back From War To Gladden Friday, 13th

Members of the Arnold family in Roxbury are reversing all their ideas about Friday, the 13th, being unlucky.

This morning the family was celebrating because Samuel L. Arnold, 27, was back from 14 months of fighting in the South Pacific with the Army's Transport Maritime Service. Then a younger son, Robert A. Arnold, 21, who has been an aerial gunner with the 8th Air Force for more than a year also walked in on a short unexpected furlough.

The brothers hadn't seen each other for two years as they missed meeting at Sheephead Bay, by just two minutes, a year and a half ago when Sam shipped out. Mrs. Bertha Arnold, their mother, is still speechless at the wonder of it all and can only smile with a sort of misty radiance as she gazes at her two sons who came home with heroes' decorations.

They brought home all kinds of war trophies, ranging from Japanese uniforms to an English driving license.

Bob, who has been in raids all over Europe, including the famed Schweinfurt, Munich and Emden raids, as a nose gunner on a B-17, has been awarded the Air Medal. But he says his greatest thrill was not any of his close escapes, when they limped home with motors missing, but being able to vote for President this year.

"I received my ballot in England," he said today, "and, boy, it's already in."

Sam brought a very grim trophy home—a pair of Japanese sniper's shoes. They are black sneakers with very thick rubber soles and the toes have a deep clef—like a V—fine for climbing trees.

He also brought home a Japanese helmet and uniform which has not a hole in it.

As the brothers hid their delight at seeing each other under a lot of hazing repartee, Bob wanted to know how the Jap had died.

"He didn't die of disease," answered Sam grimly.

Find Lost Hudson Boy Safe in Woods

HUDSON, Oct. 13—Hampered by dense, clinging fog, which allowed only limited visibility, a huge force of State Guards, Boy Scouts and specially trained Army searchers combed swamps and woodlands today for tiny Richard S. Rollins, missing since yesterday afternoon from his River st. home.

Theories on the disappearance of the boy, who will be three next March, ranged from kidnapping or murder to the possibility he had been struck by a hit-and-run motorist or tumbled into the Assabet river which flows some 500 yards behind his home.

Last to see the child alive, excepting his tiny playmates, was John D. Turner, an odd-jobs-man, who lives in a barn behind the

RICHARD C. ROLLINS

Boy Found OK

HUDSON, Oct. 13—Missing since yesterday afternoon, 2-year-old Richard C. Rollins was found today by searching soldiers in the woods a half-mile from his home. Chilled, but apparently otherwise unharmed, the child greeted the soldiers with, "I want my Mommy."

boarded up house of his former employer, a short distance from the Rollins home.

Turner told Police Chief James J. Conningdon the baby and his playmates visited the barn yesterday afternoon and that he had presented little Richard with a hat which the boy triumphantly displayed to his mother.

From there the boy went to the home of Charles McCarthy, a next-door neighbor, and played there for a time with McCarthy's 4-year-old daughter, Charlene, and then left for his home. He has not been seen since.

His mother, Mrs. William B. Rollins, almost overcome with worry over the missing boy, said she had put him out in the yard to play and did not notice until two hours later that he had wandered away.

"It was warm when he went out and he only had on a navy blue blouse," she said. "When it got foggy and cooler I got his sweater but couldn't find him."

The search was started almost at once and continued through the night, although the hunters were limited by the fog and a drizzle of rain.

At daybreak, despite the continued fog, the augmented party of searchers started to work in earnest.

A specially trained search detail from the Army camp at nearby Maynard, under command of Lt. William E. Davis, fanned through the woodlands in close order formation.

State Guards from Hudson and Marlboro hunted through sheds and barns of farms throughout the area in the belief the boy may have sought shelter when night fell after possibly losing his way in the fog.

Boy Scouts and civilian volunteers prowled through heavy brush and underbrush alongside roads on the possibility the child may have been struck by a hit-and-run autoist.

Game wardens in four motorboats, which cruised up and down the Assabet river, scanned the shores for traces of the missing boy.

Chief Conningdon did not discount the possibility he may have toddled to the river in the rear of his home, although he pointed out that heavy brush and berries and swampland in that area could have prevented him reaching the bank.

The blue-eyed, blond youngster, who was wearing tan pants and black shoes and stockings in addition to his blue blouse when last seen, is one of four children. The others are Mildred 10, Melvin 5, and Frances 4.

Rubin in Defense

Ready to offer a plea of self-defense, Joe Rubin, Boston night club owner, today began his defense in Suffolk Superior Court to a charge of manslaughter in the shooting of Guy Formica, killed in front of the defendant's Showtime, South End night spot.

Assertion that Rubin would maintain that the shooting was accidental and in self-defense was made by his attorney, Daniel J. Gallagher, after court had taken a holiday recess.

In winding up its case, the prosecution produced a surprise witness in Spiros "Speedy" Lagoulis, roller skating entertainer, who testified that Rubin and Formica had been swinging fists an hour prior to the new trouble which ended in the shooting.

Lagoulis said he saw the battle and quoted Rubin as coming out of his night club, approaching Formica and saying: "You still hanging around here? You still looking for trouble?"

The witness said a fight then started which ended with Formica slumping to the sidewalk.

Proofreader Killed By B. & A. Train

Charles O. Laing, 42, of Fairway dr., West Newton, was instantly killed today when he fell into the path of a Boston & Albany train at Newtonville station. Medical Examiner T. Morton Gallagher withheld his verdict on cause of death.

Laing, a proofreader for the Christian Science Monitor Publishing Co., leaves his wife, Violet, and a son, Robert, two.

Holiday Supply Of Sugar, Fruits

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (INS) —The War Food Administration has three pieces of good news for the housewife.

WFA said home makers and other consumers soon should find more sugar on the market, substantial quantities of dry raisins and other fruit will be released in time for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year, and 400,000 cases of canned snap beans will be released from government stocks shortly.

Housewives who have found sugar supplies low in stores recently may look forward to greater quantities at their grocers in a few weeks, WFA explained, as beet sugar factories in the West and Midwest step up production.

WFA said approximately 133,000 tons of raisins and Zante currants, 35,000 tons of dried prunes, 5000 tons of dried peaches and 2500 tons of dried apricots will be released from the 1944 pack for holiday trade.

Noxon in Pittsfield Court Asks New Trial in Slaying

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 13 — John F. Noxon, Jr., today appeared here before Judge Abraham Pinsanski in seeking a new trial in the same courtroom where last July he was sentenced to death for the electrocution-slaying of his mentally defective infant son.

The socialist Pittsfield attorney has presented three motions for a new trial, which, if upheld, will mean he will remain here at Berkshire County jail. If the motions are denied he will be turned at once to State Prison to await death.

Noxon was brought from State Prison by Warden Francis J. W. Lanigan, Perley Vance, supervising guard, and Richard Flanagan, senior correction officer. He appeared in excellent health and has gained weight during his stay at Charlestown.

The various motions for a new trial will be argued by his counsel, former Gov. Joseph B. Ely and Walter Donovan, while Dist. Atty. Charles L. Alberti will appear in behalf of the state.

Red Rift With Allies Seen

By RAY RICHARDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—Tension so serious that it can no longer be completely concealed has developed between President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill on the one side and Premier Stalin on the other, it was declared by Sen. Robert R. Reynolds, North Carolina Democrat, member of the Senate foreign relations committee. He predicted that the whole situation will "break into the open soon," and that the American people then will "suffer" one of the worst disillusionments they have ever experienced.

The strain between Russia and the western Allies covers nearly every facet of Soviet world policy, Sen. Reynolds said.

"Mr. Churchill," he declared, "has gone to Moscow so heart-sick over the Communist threat to England's position that he doesn't know what to do, and will do merely what he can in view of Britain's knotty war entanglements with Russia."

"Mr. Roosevelt also has the Russian bear by the tail, and doesn't quite know how to let go."

Sen. Reynolds said the efforts of Great Britain to save Yugoslavia from Russian dominance have failed completely.

Bulgaria, he said, has been in the Russian bag since the Germans left.

Greek circles in Washington, he pursued, expect Russia to acquire permanent control of Macedonia after the present process of recovering Greece.

Anti-Communist Slavs in the United States, the Senator revealed, are formulating a movement to urge the Yugoslavia cause of Gen. Mahalovich, Tito's political opponent, but "probably have moved too late to exert any influence on the situation," the Senator continued.

"In fact, it seems too late for the White House itself to do anything by reasonable persuasion about any part of the Russian fields now being released from the grip of Fascism."

"Russia presents a policy of government diametrically contrary to the political tradition of both Great Britain and the United States, and we of the western world are commencing to pay the price, through the vast gains of the inimicable Russian ideology, for Russia's part in this war."

Sen. Reynolds said he expected revelation soon that American and British officials have been expelled from Yugoslavia, as Russia recently expelled British and American military missions from Bulgaria.

A hint of what may be coming, the senator said, is given by a current report in the magazine News Week that Tito, after a conference with Russian chiefs, "double-crossed" the United States and Britain by a "surprise" announcement that only Tito's partisan administration may distribute goods of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in Yugoslavia.

"This shouldn't have been a surprise," Sen. Reynolds remarked. "Such events were to be expected after the western Allies renounced the constitutional monarch of Yugoslavia, King Peter, and his supporter Mahalovich, in favor of Communist Tito."

"The Communist offensive is nearing a crisis not only in Yugoslavia, but everywhere else in Europe, especially in France, whose Spanish frontier is solidly in the grip of Soviet adherents."

"The program Russia is advancing with such vast strides is utterly destructive of the principles for which our leaders have told us we went to war."

"Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill are in a dilemma."

Polish Premier Hopeful of Pact

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (AP)—Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the London Polish regime said today "I am most hopeful" of accord with the Soviet-sponsored Lublin committee of national liberation after a conference with the American ambassador, W. Averell Harriman.

The belief prevailed that a compromise would be reached before Prime Minister Churchill concludes his talks with Premier Marshal Stalin.

Polish Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, who flew here from London yesterday by invitation, conferred upon arrival with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden. He was to talk with other high leaders of Great Britain and Russia before meeting the chief members of the Russian-sponsored Lublin committee of liberation with which he failed to reach agreement two months ago.

Mikolajczyk was granted no blank check by his London exile government. Even in event of a provisional agreement he would have to return to London and submit it for approval.

Dewey Advised to 'Keep Punching'

By JACK BELL

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—Urged by supporters to "keep punching," Gov. Thomas E. Dewey prepared today for a new invasion of the west in which he may lay down the heaviest barrage of his attack on the Roosevelt administration.

The New York Governor was back at his desk in the executive mansion after viewing the Columbus Day parade in New York city where he accepted for the University of Michigan a bust of himself sculptured by Donald E. Curran, and with Mrs. Dewey, registered to vote.

Due to leave Sunday for major campaign speech in St. Louis Monday night, the Republican presidential nominee heard the head of his college alumni club assert last night that only by "keeping punching" could he win the presidency.

As Dewey stood nearby, smiling, J. K. Gould, president of the University of Michigan Alumni Club of New York city, told the candidate:

"Keep punching, Tom. That's the kind of fighting that wins elections."

He said the bust of Dewey would be placed on a pedestal on the Michigan campus.

Wounded Need More Aid, Says Mrs. Rogers

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R.) of Massachusetts, said today more doctors and nurses were needed in the field to care for the wounded and served notice she would seek congressional action unless the increase came soon.

Back from two weeks in France and Belgium where she shared the life of Army nurses and WACs, Mrs. Rogers had high praise for the women serving with the armed forces.

GOVERNOR EARL WARREN OF CALIFORNIA

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

Protect Trade, Bricker Urges

EN ROUTE WITH BRICKER, Oct. 13 (AP)—Gov.

John W. Bricker has taken the stand that America's armed forces should protect her interests wherever her flag of commerce and territory flies.

If this nation's trade should extend around the world, "we would have to protect our trade," said the Republican candidate for Vice-President, who today devoted a second day to campaigning in Oregon.

His position was set forth in a press conference as the Bricker special train stopped over in Eugene, Ore. It was an elaboration of his Wednesday speech in Bremerton, Wash., where he advocated that America maintain after the war a "strong system of outlying military bases within the sphere of American responsibility for world security."

Asked to define the "sphere of American responsibility," the Ohio governor replied: "Our territorial and trade responsibilities must be protected."

He added that "if we assume the responsibility like we did in the Philippines, we must not leave it to the mercy of ruthless countries."

Bricker, asked if he would care to expand on "trade responsibilities," answered:

"No, except that our trade must be protected. I am thinking that we were not in a position (before the war) to protect the trade essential to the basic needs of the country—rubber, sugar, coffee, oil, spices, quinine, minerals and many other of the essential things."

"In other words, if our trade should extend around the world—as a newspaperman started to ask."

"We have to protect our trade," Bricker interrupted.

Death and Havoc In New Robot Raid

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Flying bombs were launched over the North sea against southern England and the London area last night.

Again the familiar "damage and casualties have been reported" appeared in the official announcement.

One robot burst in the air, another struck a tavern, causing damage but no casualties, and another crashed in open ground, but its spreading blast wrecked houses and caused casualties.

Three British fighter pilots pounced on one robot after it passed over an East Anglian town and, in a simultaneous attack, brought it down in open country.

Mrs. J. Disbrey heard one bomb coming and threw herself across her 16-year-old twin sons, asleep in bed. The bomb wrecked her home and two adjoining houses. Rescuers found the twin dead and Mrs. Disbrey severely injured.

Peak Hub Voting Year Indicated

An all-time high of Boston voters will probably be reached in the current registration, chairman of the election commission, William E. Motley, Jr., said today.

He said that up to 10 p. m. last Tuesday the lists showed 379,126 names, with five days for registration then remaining. The previous high was the presidential election of 1940, when 390,000 Boston voters registered.

Indicating the tremendous interest in the forthcoming election, 9165 registrations were made on Monday and Tuesday alone, Motley announced. He said registration booths will be open all over the city, and at City Hall, until 10 p. m. next Wednesday, and urged early registrations to avoid the last minute rush.

Leningrad Lights Up After 3-Yr. Blackout

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (AP)—Lights went on last night along Leningrad's main street after three years of blackout. Some 3000 electric lamps illuminated the districts of Nevsky, Liteiny, Kirovsky and Suvorovsky, and 7000 more will be turned on again before the end of the year.

MISS LORNA SLOCOMBE OF CAMBRIDGE
Keeps Busy Answering Letters of All Who Offer Aid

'Part of Me Is Over There,' Says Wife Who Knows There's War On

Wives and mothers of servicemen, war workers and countless plain, everyday citizens who have felt the impact of war on every side continued today to bombard the Boston American with letters expressing their resentment at the repeated query: "Don't You Know There's a War On?"

YOU, too, have an opportunity to express your feelings about this silly question. Simply sit down today and write in 100 words or less your reaction and state your reasons for knowing that there is a war going on.

All but members of the armed forces are eligible, and a $50 war bond will be given to the writer of the best letter. In addition, $3 will be paid to the writer of each letter which is published. Address your letters to the I-Know-There's-A-War-On Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass.

"Sure, I know there's a war on," writes a soldier's wife. "Because I'm knotting string on overseas packages instead of knotting his ties; because I'm balancing books instead of balancing his diet; because I wait for the postman each day instead of his step on the stair; because every man in uniform is 'daddy' to my little daughter because she knows him only from a photo in uniform—because he hasn't been able to hold both his girls for ever so long. Sure, I know. Part of me is over there."

The writer of the above letter inadvertently neglected to include her full name and address. The Editor would appreciate it if she would forward this information.

"Yes, I know there's a war on," writes S. M. C. of Newburyport. "Because my wife works on the day shift; my son is somewhere in France; my daughter has just joined the WAVES, and I'm working on the graveyard shift. No regular meals and no time for family recreation."

"That miserable question was put to me just two days after I was discharged from the Navy because of wounds suffered in action," said G. S. of South Boston. "I asked for a certain material in a well known clothing store because I had my mind made up on the sort of civilian clothes I wanted. It really hurt deeply when the salesman said it was impossible to get and didn't I know there was a war on."

"All I have in the world, my son, is somewhere in France," writes Mrs. I. D. of Boston. "I know he is doing his job and I am trying to do the same at home. I think the only people who use that now hated query are the ones who are doing nothing. I know there's a war on, every minute of the day and night. Let's stop shouting about it and start helping to win it."

"I have three brothers in the service," says J. G. of Malden, "and I feel like screaming when I ask a clerk for hard-to-get canned foods and he asks me that question. How could anyone with loved ones 'over there' ignore the fact there is a war going on?"

Bay State Cars to Get Only One 1945 Plate

Massachusetts autos will bear only one license plate next year, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King said today, notwithstanding the current announcement from Washington that metal is now available to provide the customary two tags.

"The Massachusetts plates have already been made and distributed to branch offices throughout the State," King said, "and it is too late to add a second plate this year. In 1946, however, there probably will be two plates again if the metal is still available."

Proxy Marriage Legal Status Seen Puzzler

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Proxy marriages, so popular since the war began, may be legal, Army, Navy and civilian lawyers agree, but, they hastily add, maybe they aren't.

Heroine No.1? No!

Miss Lorna Lowry Slocombe, blonde Cambridge stenographer, whose dish-breaking episode in a restaurant followed a waitress' "Don't you know there's a war on?" query, thinks reference to her as America's Public Heroine No. 1 is ridiculous.

The soft-spoken daughter of Rev. E. M. Slocombe, retired Unitarian minister, admitted today that's how she's being hailed in hundreds of fan letters from all sections of the nation.

As she left for a week-end in the country, however, to rest up for her hearing in East Cambridge court Monday on a charge of malicious destruction of property, Miss Slocombe said:

"Human nature is wonderful. Most people seem to have a swell sense of humor. Some, of course, take a serious slant. But this public heroine business places me in an awkward and ridiculous position, all because of something over which I had no control. I didn't mean to break the dishes. It was entirely an accident."

Nevertheless, the dish-breaking apparently caught the public fancy. Here are extracts from some of her letters:

"Consider it a privilege if you will allow me to pay your fine, should there be one."

"Congratulations, little girl. You should have wrecked the joint."

"Wonderful! Taking this opportunity to express a 'good-for-you' cheer."

PRaised BY SERVICEMEN
"Great! It's time someone did something to those who ask that irksome question. We're fed up with that crack, too."

"What a woman! Would have liked to have done it myself. May God speed the early return of your brother, cousin and boy friend."

Miss Slocombe revealed that a Guadalcanal veteran called on her to report that the nauseating "war on" question even extends to the armed forces. The overseas vet disclosed he had sought and been denied an extension of his furlough in this country when he needed more time to straighten out important personal affairs.

When the veteran reported back, a young officer, who never left the home front, greeted him with "Don't you know there's a war on?"

And the overseas man replied, "Yes, sir, I've seen the Japs fighting it."

Says F. D. Should Put Trio 'On Ice'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Senator Johnson (D.) of Colorado, said today that President Roosevelt's campaign managers "ought to put Earl Browder, Sidney Hillman and Henry Wallace in cold storage along with Eleanor" for the remainder of the campaign.

"They are proving to be a millstone around the President's neck," Johnson told a news conference. "Browder just antagonizes people; Hillman has been so far out in front in the campaign that he has made himself an issue, and as for Wallace—well, that angle speaks for itself."

He said Mrs. Roosevelt acted wisely in staying out of the campaign but that "Bob Hannegan (chairman of the Democratic national committee) didn't go far enough in that respect."

Johnson, frequent critic of the New Deal, opposed the third term and also the fourth term nomination, but has publicly taken no part in the current campaign since the Democratic convention.

$1000 Art Prize To Jap-American

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13 (AP)—First prize of $1000 in the annual Carnegie Institute exhibition of "painting in the United States" went today to a Japanese-American, Yasuo Kuniyoshi of New York, for his sophisticated still life painting, "Room 110."

The prize winner, adjudged best of 311 entries, depicts a group of unrelated items suspended from a plaster cast and resting on a tilted table top against a backdrop of glass-fronted office door.

Marion Greenwood, also of New York, took second prize of $700 for her forceful portrait study of an American Negro girl. Third prize of $500 was won by Doris Lee of Woodstock, N. Y. Her imaginative "Siesta" shows a young girl asleep on an iron bed-meadow.

stead in the midst of a green

In a discussion at the annual conference of the National Ass'n of Legal Aid Organizations, Lt. Col. Milton J. Blake, the Army's chief legal assistant officer in Washington, said it's a question that needs court determination quickly.

Here is the proxy marriage situation, he reports:

- 1—No state has come right out to say such marriages are valid.
- 2—No state has declared them invalid, either.

The colonel's own idea on this puzzler: "I have as yet to convince myself that in any state the process of proxy marriage is legal."

Lt. Com. Edward J. McDougal, Jr., Washington, who represented the legal assistance section of the Navy, said that if the wife-to-be is "executing," the Navy tells its sailors that proxy marriages are justified, if there is no attorney general opinion, no court order and no legislation indicating that it would be invalid.

Even then the Navy urges that a ceremonial marriage be performed to clinch it the moment the proxy hubby sails home.

The Army won't even go that far. It doesn't advise soldiers if proxy marriage is legal or illegal, Col. Blake said. It just turns them over to a bar association and lets it worry about the problem.

One of the difficulties: Not only are civilian courts involved, but so are such government agencies as the Veterans Administration in charge of pensions and the Bureau of Dependence Benefits.

The convention couldn't decide how to advise armed service personnel who seek help on proxy marriages, and it reached no conclusions on how the issue could be clarified.

Higher-Ups Ignore Union Fight Crimes

By SYD BOEHM

Special to the Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—A crime has been committed. There is no interest in apprehending the perpetrators of this crime. These two admissions were made to this reporter here by numerous law enforcement officeholders and businessmen dependent on the New Deal for favor.

It is a matter of record by Washington headquarters of the naval shore patrol—a record now impounded on orders from "on high"—that Lt. Randolph Dickinson, Jr., battle-fatigued hero of Midway, and Lt. Com. James H. Suddeth were punched and kicked by members of Daniel Tobin's teamsters' union on the night of Sept. 23.

Lt. Dickinson

The record showed the naval officers were set upon because they refused to state they would vote for a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

Two crimes were committed in this brutal attack, committed by the union members shortly after they had attended the teamsters' dinner and had heard President Roosevelt, guest of honor, speak for his re-election.

The first crime entails an assault upon uniformed members of the Navy and the second, violation of section 314, public law 277, of the federal statutes, occurred when an attempt was made to violate the guaranteed secrecy of the voting intentions of servicemen.

In this newspaper's investigation into the true facts, it was learned that a law enforcement agency has even attempted to ferret out the identities of the men who slugged the officers in the now infamous "battle of the Hotel Statler lobby."

A definite "hush-up" political plan has been obediently followed by everyone concerned, beginning with the "arrest" of Lt. Dickinson and his superior, Lt. Com. Suddeth by the shore patrol close to midnight on Sept. 23.

The Naval officers, both on leave from the Naval medical center, Bethesda, Md., although the victims of the "slug-fest," were held incommunicado for three hours by the shore patrol.

Here is what official Washington told this reporter:

Maj. Edward J. Kelly, chief of police—"No complaint was filed with my department. It is entirely a Navy matter."

Q—Is an assault a matter for the police? A—Yes, but we were not called. It is a Navy matter.

U. S. Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D., of Rhode Island, chairman of the Senate campaign expenditure committee—"We are investigating."

Q—Have your investigators questioned Daniel Tobin, head of the union, Frank Tobin, his son, or David Beck, vice-president of the union? A—No.

Q—Have any members of the Teamsters' Union who were registered at the Statler on Sept. 23, been questioned? A—Not as yet.

Harold Buckles, chief investigator for Green's committee—"We are working on the case."

Q—Have you questioned Tobin or any of the union leaders who were in the hotel when the fight occurred? A—Mr. Tobin was in the suite of William A. Green, president of the AFL at the time of the fight.

Q—Have you questioned any members of the Teamsters' Union? A—Not yet.

Q—But you did question the two naval officers and former Army Capt. Randolph Dickinson, Sr., father of the officer who was beaten? A—Yes, we talked to them.

Q—Then the only ones questioned were those on the receiving end of the kicks and punches? A—So far.

Fred Kenney, general manager of the Hotel Statler—"It was just one of those unfortunate things."

Q—Who telephoned to the shore patrol to come to the hotel? A—I believe one of the desk clerks telephoned.

Q—Isn't it a fact that the shore patrol was summoned because a Teamsters' Union official, after the officers were beaten, came to the desk and ordered the clerk to telephone for the shore patrol? A—It was one of those unfortunate affairs that happen occasionally in the best of places. Someone did, I understand, come to the desk and ask that the shore patrol be called.

Q—Wasn't that someone Frank Tobin? A—I don't know who it was.

Q—Did the hotel make a full report on the affair? A—That was for our own benefit. It is always done. The report is not public property.

Harold —, employee of Hotel Statler—"Those Navy boys handled themselves pretty good, but there were too many guys jumping them."

Q—Who started the fight? A—Some of the teamsters. Most of them had been drinking since before the dinner to the President.

Q—Do you know the identities of the men who hit the naval officers? A—There were too many. I don't know who they were. You know we got strict orders not to talk about this thing.

Further investigation disclosed most of the union leaders were in the suite of Green, AFL boss, at the time of the fight and that word was brought to them soon after the shore patrol led away Lt. Dickinson and Lt. Com. Suddeth.

Among those said to have been in the Green suite were Tobin, Beck, John M. Gillespie, secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters' Union, and Thomas E. Flynn, assistant to Tobin.

No effort was made by authorities, it was learned, to check on whether a telephone call was put through to the President in the White House.

It is also a matter of record that the Hotel Statler, Washington's newest hotel, has been the recipient of numerous governmental prizes during the war and has been permitted to purchase luxury equipment.

Lelong Uses Gathered Material To Good Effect in Paris Showing

By LORELLE HEARST

Special Correspondent Boston American
PARIS, Oct. 13—Lucien Lelong's show climaxed the first week of the fashion showings in Paris.

Lelong himself, since right after the start of the war has been president of the Couturiers' Ass'n and, as such, has kept the fashion industry in Paris.

No less than 11 times the Germans wanted to close up the industry in Paris and move it to Vienna.

During the afternoon, I was shown the full number of models—limited by law to 40—and out of the whole bunch there were not five that I would not like to have.

Lelong's particular trend, in both suits and dresses, shows itself in a trick he has of gathering material right across the middle, then gathering it back and doing half a dozen different things with it. You really have to have a figure to show them off properly.

Following the usual procedure, Lelong showed street dresses and suits first, then closed with evening dresses.

He started off with a tight fitting grey wool jersey dress, over which the mannequin wore a brick colored mackinaw, known here as canadienne, with brown beaver collar, fitted tightly at the waist.

Next came a brown corduroy dress with little gold-trimmed buttons down the center made of the same material. It had breast pockets embroidered with three lions taken from the British coat of arms, and was worn with a strawberry red coat with a raccoon collar.

On the dressy side, there was a lovely navy blue corduroy velvet suit made of very fine material. It had horizontal lines instead of vertical, it was double-breasted, and it also had gold-trimmed buttons of the same material. The girl carried a large square bag with a beaver fur stripe.

A couple of girls carried very chic umbrellas. One of these had a curved leather handle in addition to a slave chain which hung loosely from the top of the hook to a heavy gold collar, and which had little gold gadgets attached. Another had one of black silk with a straight handle topped with a woman's high shoe.

Among the dressier models displayed were several lovely silk suits. This category was climaxed by a marvelous looking broad-shouldered suit and a black Persian lamb coat draped lower in the back than at the front.

There was also a lovely black wool dress which had a square decollete, again with a little pull around in the back and over the hips. Another was a gorgeous electric blue, light wool creation, with small pleats at the back, a plain front and long full sleeves also gathered in small pleats.

Some dresses, particularly made for teen age girls, were of Scotch plaid. In addition, one that was really outstanding was of pure white wool with long sleeves and a very full skirt.

Of the evening dresses, the best was one of black velvet which had a square decollete and was trimmed completely with silver fox.

Another was made of yards and yards of black silk chiffon, which we would not have at home because of the restrictions on the use of silk.

The show closed with a tight evening gown, a black full length velvet dress with a bateau decollete and very low back. It was trimmed with Scotch silk ribbons parted at the back into two long floating falls.

Teen Mob Scene Greet The Voice

NEW YORK (AP)—Squealing, shoving—yes, even fainting—youngsters, mostly of the bobby socks persuasion, threw a human wall around a Times sq. movie palace and penning in a slight, tanned young singer by the name of Frank Sinatra.

Twenty-five thousand of them, by the estimate of a distraught police detail, took advantage of the Columbus Day school holiday to stage New York's greatest mob scene since the last time nylons went on sale.

The Paramount Theater's box office window caved in, policemen's uniforms were ripped, the block was closed to pedestrians. When the doors opened more than 4000 of the sweated and zoot-suited teen-agers surged in, at least 1000 of them to stay all day.

Many of the others—bananas and milk bottles bulging from their clothing—didn't even get a glimpse of Sinatra, who peered through the stage door at the forest of bare legs and elected to take his meals in the theater.

"The crowd is swell," he said, "but I'm always afraid of somebody getting hurt."

Nobody was more than bruised, as it developed, although one girl fainted and several others, seeing her carried into the theater, elaborately swooned. It didn't work, though. "We're not that dumb," sneered a perspiring usher.

Such a riot of whistling and screeching broke out when Sinatra first appeared on the stage that he threatened, optimistically, to "forget the show and go out and get some breakfast." The aisle-dancers went back to their seats and an eerie stillness came over the audience when Sinatra sang his first song. It was about love.

More than 200 patrolmen, to say nothing of mounted policemen and officers safe in automobiles, continued to cope with the crowd outside. Those on foot resembled blue chips tossed in the surf. "It was terrific," wheezed

Capt. Frank Reilly. "Why," moaned an anonymous subordinate, "did Columbus do this to us?"

How to Beat It

Are you one of the thousands who have tried to send a holiday or birthday telegram, only to have the telegraph office turn you down with a regretful (and sometimes brusque) "Sorry, it's against the rules?"

Well, for 25 years a member of the Boston American's editorial staff has received an Oct. 12 birthday telegram from his brother, publisher of the Lexington (Mo.) Advertiser-News.

Yesterday the annual yellow envelope was delivered as usual. It said:

"Letter follows. Western Union does not accept congratulatory telegrams."

COL. E. S. CORNELL DIES LARCHMONT, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—Col. Edward S. Cornell, 80, former president of the National Highways Protective Society, died yesterday at his home after a lengthy illness.

Leaders Favor Palestine Plan

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 13 (AP)—Sumner Welles, former Under Secretary of State, Rep. John W. McCormack (D.) of Massachusetts, majority leader of the House of Representatives, and Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R.) of Massachusetts, House minority leader, endorsed the establishment of a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine in messages to delegates assembling for the 47th annual convention of the Zionist Organization, which opens here tomorrow at the Breakers Hotel.

"The record of the Jewish people during the past quarter-century has been outstanding," Welles said. "Their faith and persistence in the face of grave dangers and notwithstanding innumerable obstacles have been superb and a cause for inspiration to all who believe in democracy and in the principles of human liberty. What they have achieved is in reality a modern miracle."

McCormack and Martin pledged the support of their parties to "reconstruction of Palestine as a free and democratic Jewish commonwealth."

Here's Good News On Overseas Gifts

Good news for last-minute people who have delayed mailing Christmas parcels to overseas servicemen!

The deadline has been extended to Monday, Oct. 16.

The Post-office Department announced the one-day extension as a public convenience. Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly said the department decided on the added day because the previously set deadline fell on Sunday, Oct. 15.

The ONE-DAY extension gives you just two full days to get those packages in the mail. Don't delay any longer, else the fighting man for whom your Christmas package is destined will not receive it at his overseas post until long after Christmas.

Mail the gifts today and be sure.

A FEW DROPS Quickly Relieve Distress of HEAD COLDS!

It's so easy to get prompt, effective relief from distress of head colds with Va-tro-nol! Works right where trouble is to reduce congestion—soothe irritation—make breathing easier. Also helps prevent many colds from developing if used in time. Try it! Follow directions in folder.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

Christmas will be more than just another day to the men fighting all over the world.

To the thousands who have enrolled in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign, sponsored by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, we urge that if you have not prepared the package for the overseas lad whose name you have already received, you do so immediately.

In case you are in doubt as to the type of gift most acceptable, we repeat a list which may help you. Overseas men welcome food from home, but it should be confined to hard candy, vacuum-packed salted nuts, fruit cake, canned or tinned delicacies and other food which is non-perishable and firmly packed. Many department and candy stores and gift shops have prepared food packages, in various price ranges, which they will mail out for you. Do not send intoxicants, inflammables, breakable goods, poisons or anything likely to damage the mails. Knives or razor blades should be packed so that both edge and blade are well protected.

Important! Your waste kitchen fats can load our guns. Take every drop to your meat dealer.

U. S. Saint Urged By Abp. Cushing

Asserting he hoped to see the day when the name of a native-born American would be added to the list of saints of the Catholic church, Archbishop-elect Richard I. Cushing today recorded himself in favor of the canonization of Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton.

The archbishop-elect told 300 nuns at a meeting in New England Mutual Hall that he believed canonization of an American citizen would serve as an inspiration and incentive to the faithful in the United States.

Mother Seton, founder of the Sisters of Charity in the United

Dewey's Stock Up, Political Seers Say

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has been winning the "breaks" in the presidential race, in the opinion of Washington political observers.

Topmost Republican campaign leaders stated privately at the beginning of the battle that they had an uphill fight, but now they confidently assert that Dewey has put Roosevelt on the defensive and still has a lot of ammunition to discharge before the people go to the polls Nov. 7.

In Republican circles a few weeks ago there was a feeling that perhaps the Democratic oracles were right in predicting that a small popular vote would be to Dewey's advantage, and that Roosevelt's chances would be enhanced by a tremendous outpouring of votes.

The assumption was that the CIO Political Action Committee would see to it that citizens in the big cities favoring a fourth term for Roosevelt register and vote, and that the Republicans, chiefly in the farming areas and small towns, would be asleep on election day.

Advices to Republican headquarters are that the GOP organization, co-ordinated at the St. Louis conference among Dewey and Republican governors of 25 other northern states, is beginning to click. Leaders said they would not be surprised if 45 million votes are cast in the Presidential contest—five million more than some polls forecast a few weeks ago.

Reports from Illinois and California, as samples, were that the Political Action Committee's drives in big cities were met by Republican campaigners' door-to-door efforts in Republican territory.

First figures on the registrations in New York city were hailed by Republican chieftains as good news for the Dewey camp. Whereas in the admittedly Democratic boroughs the registrations approximated the 1940 figures, in Queens, which went Republican in 1940, there was an increase.

(New York city registration today totaled 1,974,846 after 536,366 signed registration books yesterday. The four-day total in 1940 was 1,024,846.)

In upstate New York, Republican territory, registering does not close until Oct. 21, and Republican campaigners say there will be a lot of plain and fancy doorbell ringing upstate after the figures from the metropolis the in.

Republican campaigners believe that the CIO Political Action Committee, the first major attempt by a large labor union to take sides in a presidential race, is developing into the biggest "break" for the GOP.

There is evidence that the prominence of Sidney Hillman's CIO Political Action Committee in clamoring for another term for President Roosevelt has caused members of other labor unions to go into the Dewey camp.

Republican scouts said they had also gathered that the political action committee's drive to get out the fourth term vote has boomeranged. Key workers in the Hillman organization are paid to work for a fourth term—paid from committee funds—and are recruited largely from CIO unions.

Others tapped to ring doorbells, it is reported, find other vocations more attractive. But while the GOP helmsmen thus pooh-pooh the effectiveness of the Hillman organization, it is considered the most potent fourth term movement in the northern battleground, next to the big-city machines.

But it is in the registration of voters that practical politicians are now looking for clues to the result of the presidential race. Simon Michelet, a Washingtonian who for many years has campaigned for greater popular votes as president of the National-Get-Out-the-Vote Club, said:

"Needless of electoral duty on the part of decent citizens magnifies the power of corrupt citizens. It gives a corrupt handful political power and opportunity to defeat even a majority, when the ranks of the latter are depleted by deserters."

"Mounting slush funds go hand-in-hand with an increasing stay-at-home vote. Convince a voter that he has no public duty to vote, and you have paved the way for him to look upon his ballot as a private marketable commodity."

On the basis of servicemen's applications for absentee ballots, political observers estimate that more than two million servicemen abroad will vote. Polls on servicemen's presidential preferences are forbidden by Army regulations.

But there are other factors, notably the women's vote. Some experts say, "Tell me how the women are going to vote and I'll tell you who will be elected." Both the Republican and Democratic headquarters predict that on Nov. 7 more women will vote than men.

Poltergeist Blamed For Witch Scare

SCRAPFAGGOT GREEN, Eng., Oct. 13 (AP)—Two hundred years ago a witch was burned at the stake in this village and her ashes were buried under the spot where flames destroyed her.

This summer an Army bulldozer lumbered through the village on a road-making chore and moved a rock placed atop the grave. Now the citizens of Scrapfaggot declare they are being plagued by strange goings-on.

Councilor Arthur Sykes said people told him of churchbells being rung at midnight and of sheep that wandered out of fields that have no exits. "Yesterday the old church clock was found to be two hours slow, and I can't remember its ever being wrong before," he added.

Builder Charlie Dickson tells of scaffolding poles which strong-men can hardly lift being found scattered about like toothpicks. A dead chicken was found with its neck twisted . . . but no one in the village had lost a chicken.

At one of the local pubs, landlord Bill Reynolds scoffed at the tales. At least, he did until the evening when a customer complained about falling over a huge rock outside the pub door.

Reynolds said there were no rocks there, never had been. Then he looked outside to prove it. It took two men to carry the rock away, he said.

Up in London, Harry Price, head of the London University's council of psychical investigation, put forward a theory.

Price, who has put to the test innumerable stories of witches, ghosts and their ilk, said the trouble at Scrapfaggot Green is caused by a poltergeist, a noisy mischievous spirit.

"It has been proved that poltergeists exist," Price said. "I have listed more than 500 cases of such spirit tricks. Many of them have been put down to the influence of witches."

DIES OF HEART ATTACK

A heart attack was blamed today for the death of Frank W. Burba, 56, of Davis st., Quincy who tumbled 10 feet from a ladder while putting on storm windows at a house near his home.

Metal Plates OK'd

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — Automobile license plates, dog tags and other metal licenses were restored to a pre-war production basis by the War Production Board through revocation of three orders restricting their manufacture.

495,000 Peacetime Firearms Authorized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) —The War Production Board authorized the production of 495,000 new shotguns and rifles for farmers, ranchers, police and other law enforcement agencies.

In addition, factories will be permitted to resume manufacture of an unstated quantity of partly fabricated guns on which work was suspended when the firearms industry converted to war work.

Treason Dragnet In Romania

BUCHAREST, Oct. 13 (AP)—Arrest of Romanians accused of war crimes began today. A decree authorized the government to use whatever measures are needed to establish the political and criminal responsibility of "the authors of the country's disaster."

Immediately arrested were Ion Gigurtu, premier under former King Carol and director of Romania's gold mining company, Mika; Orwaler Pop, former minister of justice, and Mihail Manoilescu, former minister of foreign affairs. Orwaler Pop and Manoilescu signed the Vienna dictate which ceded Transylvania to Hungary.

Warner to Wed Anne Sterling

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13 (AP).—Wedding plans of Thomas William Warner, Jr., son of a millionaire auto parts manufacturer, and film actress Anne Sterling became known with the announcement of an engagement party, planned originally as a wedding reception.

Gabe Warner, publicity representative of the Warner Manufacturing Co., said the couple, accompanied by Warner's ex-wife, the former Jeanette MacDonald, went to Taormina, Sicily, for a quick divorce and remarriage.

The latter was postponed, Warner said, when it was found that the Mexican law required a wait of 30 days after the granting of a divorce. Mrs. Warner's divorce from her first husband last July 1934 cannot become final until a year later.

Rifleman Sought in Boy Stroller's Death

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R. I., Oct. 12 (AP).—Police of this town and neighboring Blackstone, Mass., today were seeking a rifleman who shot and fatally wounded Thomas Moran, 11, of Blackstone. The youngster died five hours after he was struck in the abdomen as he strolled with four companions along the Blackstone river.

Former President Of Argentina Dies

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13 (INS).—Ramon Castillo, 71, former Argentine president, died here following a long illness. Castillo resigned from the presidential office after an army junta, led by Gen. Arturo Rawson, effected a coup d'etat on June 4, 1943.

NO ORCHIDS

ONE IS more apt to find scallions than orchids in the bouquet which Surgeon General Norman T. Kirk of the United States Army has given the nation's nursing profession.

Several weeks ago General Kirk sought four thousand enlistments from the 209,000 civilian nurses in the country.

Yesterday he was astounded to discover that only a scant five hundred women had responded to his plea.

"Surely," he declared, "there ought to be at least ten thousand graduate nurses willing to join the Army to help out in this grave emergency."

General Kirk is much too conservative; there ought to be fifty thousand nurses sufficiently patriotic to answer their country's call.

Nurses, particularly those who have married and retired, cannot save the heroic men who have already died in action while complacent women with medical knowledge and hospital training were debating the advisability of backing the war effort.

But these former nurses can and most certainly should come forward to care for the thousands of other young men who will fall in battle before this conflict ends.

Actually, it is a choice between beds and coffins for whole regiments of our fighting sons.

Of course, it would be wrong to rebuke the nurses who are working day and night in hospitals throughout the land, maintaining essential services and contributing immeasurably to the health and happiness of the home front.

Blame for the deplorable shortage of nurses should be placed precisely where it belongs—on the schools which were so concerned with educational frills, fads and nonsense in the past ten years that they had neither the time nor the inclination to prepare young women for such a practical and useful career as nursing.

TIME TO WAKE UP

FRANK C. FERGUSON, enterprising chairman of the Port of New York Authority, recently stated that New York would handle more than six billion dollars' worth of foreign trade in 1948 and was prepared to spend $15,000,000 for waterfront improvements to get it.

This should interest the antique-worshippers in Boston who begrudge every dime appropriated for the modernization of their port.

Fifty years ago, while Boston was still thinking in terms of the sailing vessel and ox-cart, New York completely transformed her harbor facilities and established herself as one of the world's foremost ports.

Incalculably great prosperity flowed to New York as a consequence, and Boston, nearest American city to the European continent, became more and more of a has-been.

Thanks to the war and the fact that New York has been unable to handle the unprecedented volume of shipping, Boston now has another opportunity to take her rightful place in commerce.

Shall we grasp it?

LIVE LONGER

JINGLE-JANGLE nerves caused by noisy city living are shortening the lives of urban dwellers.

That is the opinion of Dr. Arnold Jackson, co-chief of staff of the Methodist Hospital and Jackson Clinic in Madison, Wis.

The high death rates of many large cities support Dr. Jackson's belief. Fast living wears out bodies and minds. And weariness is a frequent cause of fatal illness.

This is one of the many reasons why the development of rural communities should be encouraged after the war.

For the evils which never arrived! —EMERSON

ABOVE LINES first came to my attention when I was 17. Since then I have read considerable advice along the same lines. But I still worry. Worrying has its advantages, too. Think how wonderful you feel when something you have been worrying about doesn't happen. Then, also, if something you have been worrying about does happen you are prepared for the shock. . . . Is astonishing how many people think the war in Europe is practically over. This causes them to view current happenings with complacency. They forget every minute that the war continues some man gives his life for his country. I quote an excerpt from an editorial in the London Daily Express: "Those betting the war will end soon might not lay these wagers so lightly were they with the Allied troops on the rain-swept Moselle river in France. Soaked by rain, our forces plunged into the river and started to cross with a good chance of going nowhere but to death. It was hard to help the wounded from the far side of the river. So our wounded lay there with the dead. Not far away were the Germans, not fleeing, bed-ragged Germans, but Germans who were fighting well, wisely and strongly." No, the men serving under Gen. Eisenhower are not complacent.

Gen. Eisenhower

QUESTIONS FROM CLIENTS: Q. Did you ever settle that argument as to the first baseball game played under lights? A. First game under electric lights was played June 2, 1883, at Ft. Wayne, Ind., between the home team and the Quincy, Ind., club. Ft. Wayne won by score of 19 to 11. Q. Answer the following or send me stogie by return mail. What famous New York theatrical man made his own cigars? A. It was Oscar Hammerstein. Q. Are you a good dancer? A. I never won any cups but I get by all right.

SIDE LIGHTS: Are you subject to seasickness? If so, your worries will be over after the war. A "seasickness pill" that works has been invented. Owing to the scarcity of the necessary ingredients of this pill, its use is now confined to the armed forces. In that beautiful postwar world it will be generally available. . . . An Italian banker is accused of having turned over 120 tons of gold to the Germans. Here's a question for you. How much is a ton of gold worth at this time? If you can't answer that quick: as a flash, cease calling yourself a well-informed man.

PLEASE NOTE: The longest name in the Bible is Maher-shalhashbaz (Isaiah 8-1) . . . The shortest verse is John 11:35: "Jesus wept" . . . The finest piece of reading is Acts 26: Paul's address before Agrippa. . . . The name of God is not found in the Book of Esther. . . . The Bible has been translated into 1051 languages. . . . Can you name the books of the Bible in which the following are to be found: The Parable of the Prodigal Son, the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Parable of the Good Samaritan? If not, your Sunday school teacher should be ashamed of you.

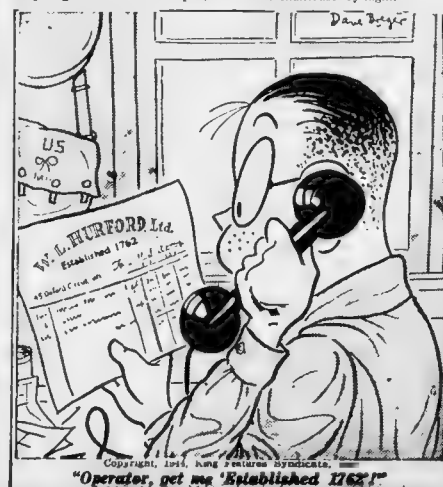

VITAMINS: Several years ago Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, took some vitamin tablets. They made him feel full of pep. He did twice as much work as formerly. Sam suggested his ballplayers try these tablets. They did and the team immediately started to go places in the matter of winning pennants. Last spring the St. Louis Browns started taking the same vitamin tablets, which incidentally, are a St. Louis product. And so what? The Browns won their first pennant in more than 50 years!

LITERARY NOTE: Somerset Maugham has been paid $2700 for a "short, short story" of fewer than 1000 words. I wrote a "short, short" for Collier's some years ago. They paid me $250. I made about $200 more from the syndication of the story which was about 1200 words. Four hundred and fifty smackers for 1200 words! Not so bad for a young fellow.

PASSING BY: Cole Porter. Song writer from Peru, Ind. His life story is to be made into a film. Should be interesting. Why doesn't somebody make Ethel Merman's life story in film form? The first part of this could be very good. I refer to the period of Ethel's life when she was a stenographer by day and a cafe chanteuse by night.

"Operator, get me 'Established 1762'!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1944, by King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—With a grateful bow to President Roosevelt for his use of the word "fraud" in his recent speech in Washington, I shall try to clarify a particularly nasty fraud perpetrated on loyal American merchant sailors by the National Maritime Union, which often follows the Communist Party line and receives many favors from Mr. Roosevelt, himself.

Westbrook Pegler

This organization has recently held an election in which, by its own admission, 20,000 American sailors were disqualified because they had not been members for six months.

That, however, is by no means the only provision arranged by the political waterfront salts who run the union to perpetuate themselves in office.

The primary qualification, of course, is the poll tax. If a sailor isn't paid up, he can't vote. And, of course, the penalties for non-payment of a union poll tax are much more painful to the victim than the mere denial of the ballot to delinquents in the poll tax States.

The man who doesn't pay his union poll tax loses his right to earn his living and may even be driven out of a vital war job.

And, if he persists in his refusal as a decision of patriotic principle, he may be utterly outcasted from most lines of work wherever he goes in the United States by means of the union blacklist. The Southern poll tax delinquent suffers no refusal of public or private employment and may take full advantage of all public facilities.

QUALIFICATIONS for office in the National Maritime Union appear to have been rigged to make it impossible for actual, seagoing sailors to dislodge Mr. Roosevelt's pro-Communist and outright Communist dock-side adherents.

To be eligible for office a sailor must have been a member of the union for at least a year and a sailor for at least two years. We have seen that 20,000 men carrying supplies to the war were deprived of the vote. Now we begin to perceive that practically all the wartime recruits to the Merchant Marine are ineligible for office because the vast majority of the new men have had less than two years of sea service.

These are the people whom the Communists of Mr. Roosevelt's following in the NMU fear most, notwithstanding a tremendous propaganda directed at them from the time they enter training.

They are, in the main, typical young Americans, but they have no effective voice in the union meetings at the national headquarters and they risk a temporary dismissal from the union and referral back to their draft boards and induction into the Army if they speak against Communism either afloat or ashore.

JOSEPH CURRAN, president of the union, once boasted that he would fire out of the organization, without trial, anyone whom he regarded as a "racketeer," a term undefined in the constitution.

Refusal to associate with a colored man in hours off watch and expressions of racial or religious prejudice are high crimes for which an offender may be set on the beach and cited to his draft board, whatever his qualifications as a sailor.

INCIDENTALLY, the minutes and the official union paper ceased to publish the sentences imposed by the kangaroo courts in an apparent effort to conceal this information from the public.

Another qualification for office requires that a candidate shall have been ashore not more than six months before his nomination, except in the case of incumbent officers nominated to succeed themselves.

The incumbents don't have to go to sea at all and none of them does.

BY STILL ANOTHER union rule, if a man spends more than four weeks ashore he falls into "bad standing" and thus becomes ineligible for either office or the vote with the result that none of the thousands of loyal Americans can remain on the beach long enough to develop a following and campaign for office.

By these provisions, anti-Communist candidates are stopped before they can start.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13—Constance Moore and Dennis O'KEEFE report next week for "The Earl Carroll Vanities"—but hold everything! Republic has just bought the rights to the title and there's not a single Carroll beauty in the line-up.

Earl, himself, will be conspicuously missing. I can't think of anything funnier, except a Ziegfeld Folies movie without a Folies girl!

Now you're probably wondering "How come, an 'Earl Carroll Vanities' without Maestro Carroll or any of his lovelies?" I wouldn't be knowing, unless Republic might have been influenced by the lawsuit Carroll waged against Paramount when they made a picture with him.

THE WIDELY publicized Clark Gable-Kay Williams romance is ended and Clark has not seen her since he returned from Washington. So much was printed about the possibility of a forthcoming marriage that they mutually decided it was far better not to see each other and to stop the gossip. Clark told me some weeks ago that he had no intention of marrying anyone and Kay always steadfastly denied that they were engaged. But still the whispers wouldn't stop, so Clark felt it was only fair to her not to monopolize all her time and to give her a chance to see other young men. Kay, who is one of the prettiest girls in town, has said she doesn't want to marry anyone.

BILL GIRARD, former press agent, man-about-town, and now one of the newest producers on the 20th lot, called me with pardonable pride to tell me about the line up for his picture, "Circumstantial Evidence."

Girard has snagged both Michael O'Shea and Lloyd Nolan for the top spots, which ain't bad, you'll admit, with the current shortage of leading men. Speaking of O'Shea, he is hot under the collar about the stories that he fouled with Sonja Henie during the making of "It's a Pleasure." "I hear," Mike said, "Miss Henie skates better than I do. I admit it!"

RUMORS THAT Gary Cooper was signing this director or that one to direct his cowboy opus for Bill Goetz were settled today when Stuart Heisler got the job. Perhaps I should say Capt. Stuart Heisler, for he has just been honorably discharged from the Army. While he was in the service Heisler directed "The Negro Soldier," one of the most talked about films made by service men in this war. Even before that he had established a reputation for being one of Hollywood's best with "The Biscuit Eaters," "The Remarkable Andrew," and "The Glass Key."

ON MONDAY "Blood on the Sun," James Cagney's new epic, gets rolling and I was very surprised to have Bill Cagney tell me that he had signed Robert Armstrong, who has been in New York on the stage for ages, and on the road, too, in "Sleep No More." These last few days have been busy ones for Bob, who is to play "Tojo," the Japanese menace, when he was a colonel in the Jap army. Plaster casts are being made and all sorts of makeup being tried because it's necessary to get a resemblance to the old so-and-so. Says Bob, "I can't begin to put all the hatred into the characterization that I feel."

"I've got a great number of post-war plans—and three of them are in the Army!"

I HEARD a talented 15-year-old boy sing the other night at "Sir Charles and Lady Mendl's house. His name is Freddie Mercer and at the age of 9 he appeared with the symphony orchestra in Detroit. He has such an appealing, expressive voice and he sings right from the heart. He is a find for either radio or movies. Elsie Mendl goes to New York Oct. 15 to remain until after Thanksgiving. Her dinner was in honor of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. George Gunle. There were some impromptu speeches, with Mary Pickford talking on our good neighbor policy with Brazil (Gunle comes from Brazil). Just that day the Mendls had had a letter from Robert Mendl that their house on Fontainebleau was not completely shattered, as they had previously been told. "The drawing room," wrote Sir Charles' brother, "is spotted with blood where three Germans were shot down."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Friends of Dana Fitzmaurice are very happy over the announcement she will soon make of her engagement to Maj. Gen. Ralph Cousins, commander of the Air Forces in this area. Right now there is no definite announcement, but I can say it will be officially told to the world soon. Dana, who is a lovely person, is the widow of Director George Fitzmaurice; surprising combination, Ilona Massey and Steve Crane, at the Clover Club; Tyrone Power writes that he hopes to be overseas by Christmas. Annabella should be in France by that time, too; Red Cameron's friends say he is in love with the lovely "Diamond Horseshoe" gal, Roxanne Hilton; so nice young C. L. Charles McArthur who was here briefly. He was flunked by generals and other Army men. We had a chance to reminisce over the days when he was Walter Houser's crack reporter in Chicago. Navy Yeoman Bob Moon, once Luna Turner's dream boy, and Ann Elythe, Universal player, care for each other; "Miss Suee Slagles," I regret to say, has been chosen to "Golden Years"; Jeffrey Bernard, who has done a grand job for Monogram, has just been handed a new lucrative contract; Paulette Goddard gets back in town Monday to start "My Favorite Brunette" with Bob Hope. She didn't get a chance to go overseas again as she hoped; Lupe Velez is out of the show in New York and getting ready to head for home.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Now that Lupe Vélez has bowed out of "Glad to See You," Broadwayites are wondering if her whole connection with the show wasn't just a publicity stunt. Because months ago Arturo de Cordova stated flatly to New York reporters that Lupe wouldn't appear in the musical. . . . The cast of "Mexican Hayride" is upset over perfume thefts backstage. So far no gentlemen have been called in on the "scene" . . . Larry Lloyd and his ex-sparring partner, Louise Stanley, have been co-haunting the Barbary Room for weeks. . . . Paul Gallico is back from his overseas trip. . . . Jane Bull, now a starlet, tells friends she'll become Mrs. Monte Proser.

IF YOU SEE Ray Milland around the sidewalks of New York, stumbling in and out of Third ave. saloons, don't jump to conclusions. He's doing a scene in which he plays the drunk for "The Last Weekend"—and the cameras are concealed in packing boxes on a truck. . . . Lt. Com, Bob Montgomery is due for another promotion. . . . One of the town's big executives is so smitten with Phyllis Barden, the model, that he sees her to her Trenton, N. J., doorstep (via the Pennsylvania R. R.) every evening after work. . . . The next choo-choo is New York!

THE GIRL who still shivers with excitement about it. The girl who is so delighted to see some friends at a party, the entrance blocked by a wall of screaming, sobbing teen-agers. She turned to the doorman and asked what in heaven's name was going on. "Oh," he answered with an apologetic smile, "it's Carole Landis. She's been waiting for her and she's just coming out now." The girl got a glimpse of bright blond hair in a long bob and froze in her tracks—until she saw, a moment later, that it was Carole Landis.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13—Susanna Foster is now playing in "Frisco Sal" with Tuohy Boy. They are the most interesting in the picture.

They were singing in a section of the Tuohy Boy. . . . She was raised in Minneapolis, and a motion picture critic there made a record of her voice and sent it to a friend at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. As a result she was signed and brought to Hollywood.

Susanna Foster
"Lana's got," she says.

She is a completely frank and honest person. She'll tell you that she really has no favorite actress. "I used to have," she says, "until I got to meet them and know them. That took the edge off it."

She always believed she was going to be a big actress.

Her real name is Susanna DeLies Flanders Larson. She took the name of Foster because she loved Stephen Foster's music.

SUSANNA was born Dec. 6, 1924, in Chicago. She is English-Swedish and Scotch-Irish. When a little girl her voice was phenomenal. She could sing every note on the piano above middle C except the last two.

Half a year later she was dropped by the studio without having appeared in a picture. Meanwhile, she attended the studio school. During a recess, she joined in a game of sandlot football with the other kids. She threatened to quit, which was intercepted by Mickey Rooney, who ran for a touchdown.

"You can't do that," she screamed at Mickey. "I can, too!" he answered. She hauled off and slugged Mickey, and followed it with a tackle which dumped him. The two were rolling on the ground when the school teacher broke it up. That was her picture career at Metro.

HOWEVER, later she did get what appeared to be a big opportunity when she played the lead in "The Great Victor Herbert" at Paramount. She was hailed as a discovery. Then nothing happened with her, and she was out of pictures, working at Lockheed, when she was signed for a lead in "The Phantom of the Opera."

She is now definitely established. Don't giggle, but she says it was much more fun "in the old days when everything was a dream and a struggle." She now wants to get into opera.

She is five feet, six inches tall, her eyes are big and blue, her hair is blonde and her weight varies between 120 and 130 pounds. She has a build that gets whistles. She doesn't object. She whistles back.

She is in the "live alone and figure things out" stage. She now resides in a cabin near the studio. She is content with her phonograph, her records, her piano and her dog. "I can have a better time with myself and my girl friends, until I meet the fellow I'm looking for," she claims.

Boston After Dark

A NEW STAR ACT WAS BORN to the eastern bigtime at the Copley Plaza's famous Oval and Sheraton Rooms Columbus Day Night. . . . It was a re-birth, really, for the brilliant singing team of Noble (Harry) and King (Frances) was discovered Columbus Day Night a year ago when Boston, for the first time, heard the attractive young couple introduce a smooth, original, harmonious and thrilling new style of vocal arrangements at the tiny Satire Room, in the Fensgate.

A YEAR OF STEADY improvement, both in fortunes and technique, has given Noble and King an authority and lustre which they may have lacked at their first Boston showing. . . . Not that one can be sure that they lacked either lustre or authority at that time. . . . Certain it was that Noble and King became the most talked-of cabaret act in Boston last winter. . . . But the switch from the cameo Satire Room to the larger areas of the Plaza's famed supper room necessarily adds to their stature.

GLANCING BACK, THIS COLUMN remembers that it was swayed by the couple's rare talents into writing numerous "raves" on their ability. . . . One result was that Hollywood, having overlooked the young Oklahoma prima donna and her tall, attractive partner from Jersey City for the two years that they had been playing the swish-her New York cafes, became interested. . . . What happened was the usual thing. . . . Charles W. Koerner of RKO saw them, heard them and signed them—right out of the little Satire Room.

THIS UNEXPECTED "BREAK" transported Noble and King to Hollywood as of Jan. 1, 1941. . . . Again the usual happened. . . . In six months of nearly complete inactivity, Noble and King appeared in one film, the Frank Sinatra "vehicle" called "Step Lively." . . . As the Voice had contractual control of all the musical numbers in that picture, it was not strange that the blending voices of Harry Noble and Frances King were mute when the picture finally came to the screen. . . . Instead, they appeared in "bit" parts, playing—believe it or not—a couple of character roles. . . . (And at that they were good.)

CAME ALONG FIRST option time, and Noble and King were released. . . . Not, however, before they had played the Clover Club under the ears of other newspapermen (including Walter Winchell) who became their immediate boosters. . . . So we have them in our midst again, and it a stunningly aroused first night audience (at two shows) may be accepted as criteria, Noble and King will be with us for a long time.

AT THE DINNER (the earlier) show, Noble and King permitted their fine talents to range from "Falling in Love With Love" to an original by Mr. Noble entitled "Here It's Christmas." . . . They closed, by demand, on their interpretation of the haunting "Flamingo," one of their most-requested encores at the Satire Room. . . . In between, a cute little comedy number telling a lyrical story of a couple's first meeting in a church, where one sang and the other played for a wedding, was biographical enough to be familiar to Boston friends of Noble and King. . . . The two young singers themselves met at a church wedding, where Harry was organist and Miss King the soloist.

PERTINENT as the number may be, it is the only tune this department would suggest as a candidate for elision. . . . A tune with more popularity belongs in that particular spot—the spot in which the team takes its first important encore. . . . As before, the Noble arrangements and the perfect blending of the team's interesting voices highlight the performance. . . . Mr. Noble's pianoforte stands out, as usual. . . . The Oval Room seems to be a perfect setting for the duo. . . . They could play there all winter advantageously to both sides, we think. . . . Again, we urge readers with a night of relaxation looming to set it aside for a hearing of Noble and King. . . . Harry Green's fine orchestra is an added attraction, and no one in Boston may possibly underestimate the popular appeal, either of one Myrus a "mind-reader" who professes to believe that thoughts may be transmitted. . . . He convinces many of the folks that his contention is plausible, too.

One Perfume All Adore Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

SOMEHOW, the essence of a woman's wishes seems to be summed up in the single exciting transaction of choosing a new perfume . . . one that will lift her . . . as if by magic . . . from the breezy outdoor world to the electric, vibrant atmosphere of gay activities.

If you're a fun-loving soul . . . chasing rainbows under glittering bulbs . . . or a spotlight personality who's the life of the party . . . the perfume which has taken our fancy for the moment is definitely for you . . . for it is as startling as a reveille. It is an awakening perfume . . . contrary to its sleepy cognomen.

You may not have Joan Crawford's mouth . . . or Hedy Lamarr's eyes . . . or Veronica Lake's hair . . . but you can have their air of glamour via the fragrance route. For this perfume has a dream-world appeal that makes it an unforgettable aura . . . and you, an unforgettable memory. The woman who wears it will be swathed in magical fragrance.

With the first tinge of autumn singing through your blood . . . and the beginning of a hectic season challenging your stamina . . . why not begin your perfume adventure with an exciting scent that is compellingly lovely . . . and sure to single you out as the ONE woman among women? Just one whiff of it . . . and you're lost in a cloud of imagination . . . and those who adore you will hold your scintillating charm an everlasting treasure.

A DRESSING-TABLE BEAUTY

One of the finest perfume houses in the country concocted this choice bit of out-of-this-world perfume. Whether your escort wears black tie and tails . . . or the insignia of Uncle Sam's armed forces . . . you'll do his presence a great honor by accenting the twosome with a bit of this preferred scent as you synopate in his arms to catching tunes . . . or gaze into his eyes across the table.

Perfume is that last touch of finesse for the fastidiously groomed woman. It is like the fizz of champagne . . . an irresistible intoxicant of joy and bliss. It is exquisiteness in the soft, feminine way. Perfume is feminine . . . and femininity is perfume. This one . . . which fires my imagination . . . is done up in a candlestick bottle under a blue snuffer cover . . . a dressing-

WAKE UP, WAKE UP wherever you are and be reinvigorated with your spotlight perfume . . . as startling as a reveille . . . hauntingly reminiscent of the night-before fun . . . for this unforgettable perfume will once again swathe you in magical fragrance . . . and you'll relive the gaiety still fresh in your memory.

table beauty, too. But, if you prefer . . . you can get it in bulk . . . and have it transferred to a bottle of your own sentimental possession. For the name of this exciting perfume, phone the Beauty Dept., L.B. 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Use Seasonings Wisely

By MARTHA LEE

JUST AS SEASONS change, so do our tastes for foods and seasonings. Now is the time to combine the last of the Victory garden vegetables with canned vegetables. The seasoning added will make the dish take on the fall appeal to the family.

Some of the seasonings which ought to begin to take a regular part in your cooking include mustard, a little chopped parsley, a suspicion of curry powder, chili powder or poultry seasoning. Remember, too, to use simple herbs as rosemary, sweet marjoram, and thyme, drippings from meats, browned butter (when you can spare it), and a dash of nutmeg on such canned fruits as pears or peaches.

To be specific, try adding some dry mustard and just a hint of either poultry seasoning or curry powder to a scalloped mixture of cabbage and canned corn, or to yellow turnip and canned peas.

TURNIP HARLEQUIN

3 cups hot dried cooked white turnips

1 No. 2 can peas, drained
1/4 cup top milk or light cream
1 tbsp. dried, canned pimiento
1/4 tsp. salt 1/4 tsp. pepper
Dash of poultry seasoning or curry powder

1 tbsp. butter or margarine
Cook turnips, drain and combine with remaining ingredients in a saucepan and heat well. Makes 6 servings

PARSLEYED TURNIPS AND CARROTS

3 cups dried or sliced raw white turnips

3 cups dried or sliced raw carrots

1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

2 tbsp. minced parsley
1/4 tsp. salt 1/4 tsp. pepper

Cook turnips and carrots together in one inch of boiling salted water, covered, for 20 minutes, or until tender. Drain. Meanwhile, melt butter, and add remaining ingredients. Pour over vegetables, and mix lightly.

30—Boston American, Oct. 13

ly with a fork. Makes 6 servings.

Canned green, wax, or lima beans blend well with the meat drippings, particularly those from bacon and ham. Now that butter is limited in supply and the favorite flavor becomes a rare treat, try adding a little rosemary or sweet marjoram to the fat used for so called "battered vegetables." The herbs will add flavor and they are available in most stores. Many of you may have grown some in your garden, in which case, dry some for winter use.

Those of you who think you do not like curry or chili powder probably have eaten foods in which they were used in too large quantities. In following the suggestions given here, only a suspicion of them is recommended in seasoning canned and fall garden vegetables.

STRING BEANS WITH TOMATOES

2 medium-sized onions, chopped
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 cups canned tomatoes

1 tsp. salt 2 whole cloves
1/4 tsp. pepper 2 tsp. sugar

1 lb. string beans, cut in 1 1/2-inch pieces

Saute onion in butter 5 minutes, or until lightly browned. Add tomatoes, seasonings and sugar, and bring to a boil. Add beans and cook 20 to 30 minutes, or until beans are tender. Makes 6 servings.

MEXICAN CORN SAUTE

1 can (No. 2) corn
2 tbsp. butter or margarine

1 tbsp. chopped green pepper
1/4 tsp. salt 1/4 tsp. salt

1 tsp. chili powder

Heat corn in butter, add remaining ingredients and simmer 10 to 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

THIS IS WRONG! This may be a sailor's dream, but it's not the proper way to walk. A lady does not take a gentleman's arm in daylight hours, unless the street is poorly paved or inclement weather makes it necessary.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Thursday—So many people have been so kind in remembering my birthday that I feel quite overwhelmed. Not only my room, but all our rooms upstairs are filled with flowers, and many people sent me notes and cards which I deeply appreciate.

There must be some special virtue in being 60 years old!

I have just received a little leaflet called "Symphony Notes," and I read it with a great deal of interest. It describes the nine-weeks cycle of Beethoven's works which Toscanini is going to conduct over the air on the General Motors symphony hour.

The editor of this leaflet tells me that he gets about 500 letters a day, with requests from the men in the service coming in surprising numbers.

Evenly, the men in the services listen to good music as well as to jazz, and what is more, they want to know more about the director who is going to interpret to them the music of the composer. Then they want to know about the composer.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON I spoke over the air for one minute, introducing the Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, who emphasized the circumstances under which the paintings now being exhibited throughout the country, in preparation for the Sixth War Loan drive, were done.

They will be shown in 38 cities by the Treasury Department, and if you happen to live in one of these cities, be sure not to miss them. They portray our boys in service all over the world, and the men who paint them are in the Army just as truly as their subjects. Often the painter fights in battle along with the GI.

The Peplum Popular

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE peplum and its relative, the tunic, are just as important in evening styles as they are in daytime clothes, which is plenty big.

Many of the dresses shown for evening are slim in style, and they have peplums to give them grace. The partial peplum, which functions only part of the way around the skirt, is something I have seen a lot, and in this class the apron peplum is important.

What a peplumed evening gown from a very big designer is like is shown in our sketch, which presents a Nettie Rosenstein dress. Made of emerald green crepe, this dress has a flaring peplum that is covered with violet and green sequin embroidery in a cutout design. The same embroidery adorns the blouse and the very short, jutting cap sleeves. Earrings to match the embroidery.

Seek New Mark In Salvage Drive

Hopeful that the returns will be the largest since scrap drives were started, salvage officials today completed plans for paper and tin salvage collections next week in 22 metropolitan area communities, including the city of Boston.

Emphasizing the increasingly vital need for tin and paper in the war effort, B. G. Waters, executive secretary of the Massachusetts salvage committee, appealed to housewives and storekeepers to make a special effort to reclaim everything that will be of aid to our armed forces. He stressed particularly the current need for tin.

"Our nation's sources of tin are still in the hands of the Japanese," he said. "It is the obligation of all of us at home to prepare every tin can for shipment to deterring plants."

The schedule of collections in the 22 communities:

Boston: Monday, Ward 1; Tuesday, Ward 6; Wednesday, Ward 11-14; Thursday, Ward 15-17; Friday, Ward 18-22.

Stock Exchange 110 Years Old

Founded by 13 men in 1834, the Boston Stock Exchange observed its 110th birthday today.

Throughout its history the exchange has been in continuous operation except during the 1933 bank holidays and from August to December, 1914, because of conditions resulting from the last war.

From an original one-room office in State st., the exchange has grown constantly and today occupies offices on the first and second floors at 53 State st., where both New York and Boston listed stocks are traded.

National Debt Costs 4 Billion a Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—It now costs more than $4,000,000,000 annually to pay the interest on the national debt.

The Treasury's monthly bulletin, out today, placed the public debt at the end of August at $209,764,000,000 and the annual interest charge at $1,033,000,000. This is at an annual rate of interest of 1.923 per cent.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Could you tell me if a man who has served six months in the Army and then reaches his 38th birthday can be released? Also is he entitled to mustering-out pay? M. R. Roxbury.

A—The Army suspended regulations which allowed a man over 35 to seek discharge in order to enter war work more than 18 months ago. Those persons were deprived of mustering-out pay under a ruling by the War Dept. Just what will be done in the case of men over 35 after the close of the European war has not as yet been advanced by the War Dept. Only rumors are being circulated.

Q—I received an Inaptitude Discharge from the Seabees. With my discharge was also given a letter stating that I had a minor physical disability which did not warrant a medical survey. Is this discharge honorable, and am I entitled to discharge button and GI Bill benefits? P. J. Lawrence.

A—Your discharge should read given under honorable conditions, if your conduct rating was high. If you served more than 90 days active duty, you are eligible for GI benefits. You are also eligible for discharge button regardless of time in service as long as you meet honorable discharge requirements as stated above.

(Same answer as above for question submitted by J. K. of Method.)

Q—I understand there is a clause in the National Service Life Insurance policy which states should a veteran become incapacitated after his discharge (honorable), the policy will pay him a monthly insurance. I do not mean compensation or pension. V. W., Boston.

A—There is no total disability clause in the National Service Life Insurance policy. World War

I policies had such a clause. However, if a veteran is declared to have continuous total disability prior to his 60th birthday, his premiums are waived but no monthly payments are given.

Q—I am 100 per cent disabled and collect a pension of $115 monthly. I have tuberculosis and therefore unable to work. I would like to find out how I might collect my Social Security?

M. J. D., Everett.

A—I suppose you mean unemployment benefit when you refer to Social Security. However, you do not give full facts in your case, whether a veteran of this war or the last. Your best bet is to contact Mass. Unemployment Compensation Office either in person or by writing. They have a downtown office on Beacon st. at Somerset st., another on Commonwealth ave., near Cottage Farm bridge.

Q—I have been honorably discharged from the Army due to feet trouble, not service connected. Am I eligible to go to a Veterans' Hospital or Bureau and seek out-patient dept. treatment?

S. A. Walpole. A—You are not entitled to out-patient dept. treatment from the Veterans' Administration if your disability was not service-connected. If you were in need of hospitalization, of course, you would be admitted to such a facility. (Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston and answered in this daily column.)

Maine Divorce Validity Tested

HARTFORD, Oct. 13 (AP)—The validity of a divorce granted in Maine was being tested in Superior Court here, where Harold C. Schwarm, 43, alias Reginald M. Van de Vere, faces charges of abandonment and non-support.

Schwarm, who in 1922 posed as Prince Henry Louis de Chateroux de Bussigny and was known as "The Bourbon Prince" and the "Russian Count," was brought to court by Lillian L. Vikomerson Van de Vere, the wife from whom he claims to have been legally separated by a Maine court.

John Hodgson, assistant state's attorney, said she was Schwarm's fourth wife, and said Schwarm had since taken Margaret L. Richards of Hartford as his fifth wife.

Death Note Tells Of Guam Heroism

Marine Pvt. Edward L. Connolly, 23, of Downer ave., Dorchester, was one of the great heroes on the battle for Guam. It was disclosed in a message telling of his death.

Urged by his lieutenant to abandon his post, Connolly stood by his mortar to pump shells into the Japs at the foot of X-Ray Ridge long after the enemy had set up murderous cross-fire.

It was there he died. News of his sacrifice arrived home two months later, according to his father, Edward Connolly, a Boston American, Oct. 13—33 ton Elevated operator. The Dorchester youngster had gone unscathed through the campaigns at Guadalcanal and Bougainville.

Berlin Phones Again Working

LONDON, Oct. 13 (INS) — Telephone communications between Berlin and Stockholm were resumed late last night, a Reuter dispatch from the Swedish capital declared, adding that there was no immediate explanation of the 190-hour service blackout.

(The British radio, heard by CBS in New York, quoted a Stockholm report saying the severance of telephone communications had been "due to discovery of a widespread anti-Nazi conspiracy among German officers and German industrialists in neutral countries, who were trying to contact the Allies.")

Boy State Soldiers To Rest at Asheville

Servicemen from Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, returning from combat areas, will be stationed for rest and rebuilding at Asheville, N. C., the War Department announced today.

Four large hotels have been taken over by the Army, and facilities set up for recreation and relaxation. When possible, the returned veterans will be permitted to have their wives with them. Arrangements are being made to provide quarters and meals for wives on a cost basis.

Garden Clubs For '45 Active

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of Home Market Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Harvard-American Sunday Afternoon Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

No one knows what our food situation will be next year but it is assured that there will be plenty of Victory Gardens. Gardeners have really had fun at their work and many have banded together in garden clubs.

These groups are farsighted and realize that home food production is important in peace time as well as war. In fact, one group already has tentative plans for sponsoring gardens when work is slack. I would suggest that more groups keep the gardening activity alive for just such an emergency.

One problem that gave gardeners some trouble last year was being unable to get good quality plants. This condition has created some local interest in growing plants at home. I do not feel that I should encourage this practice too much as plant growing is a separate enterprise in itself. It takes more skill and experience to grow plants in beds or boxes than it does in the field.

If you have tried this practice of growing plants and have had good luck, I would suggest that you build a small hotbed or cold-frame. The location and frame should be planned and built this fall before the ground freezes.

Again this year many gardeners have complained about the poor yields of late potatoes. This was caused in most cases by large periods of drouth, and poor seed.

Early in the season I suggested that small growers plant the early varieties such as Irish Cobbler or Chipewa as these generally mature before dry weather sets in. These varieties again proved best this year under adverse growing conditions.

Fore River Promises 20 Ships on Time

With strikers no wack on the job, officials at the Fore River plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. today predicted that all 20 ships being built for the government will go out on schedule through overtime Sunday work.

Workers returned to the yard in a plan whereby the state board of conciliation and arbitration will settle grievances.

New Nazi Rocket

LONDON, Oct. 13 (INS)—The Germans have attacked American positions surrounding Aachen with a new kind of rocket which shatters in flight and hurls fragments in all directions, a correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. reported today.

A dispatch by the correspondent with the Americans outside Aachen said the missile emits a whistling sound in flight, explodes and scatters fragments over a wide area.

She Tells OPA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—The OPA office, checking application for an oil heater, could find no reason why the stove was needed.

A reply for more details stated: "I have never bought a stove and do not have one of any kind. My husband is in service and I am not able to get any other kind of fuel."

She got the heater.

Ferocious Rabbit

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 13 (AP)—Fred Hansen, 71, is in a Tacoma hospital—he was kicked and stabbed by a rabbit. Hansen was injured as he prepared to kill and dress the rabbit for dinner yesterday. The rabbit's kick plunged an open clasp knife, which Hansen carried, into his abdomen.

Gypsy Kitty

STEWARTSVILLE, Oct. 13 (AP)—Travel is difficult these days, even for cats. Take Myrtle. She was given to a Stewartsville farmer by folks in St. Joseph. Myrtle liked her new place, but after awhile she wandered.

The other day the travel weary Myrtle showed up in St. Joseph, 21 miles from Stewartsville.

She had been gone 1 year.

English Union Tea

By BETTY ALDEN

L. T. AND MRS. NATHANIEL CLARK (Jane Frost) of Dover and the Richard Floods (Ellen Brewer) of Dedham are among the local couples stationed in Florida who will join the gay circle of Bostonians toasting Marie Louise King of Chestnut Hill and Maj. Benjamin Beale of Boston at their wedding tomorrow in Jacksonville, Fla. The families of both the bride and groom are also there for the festivities.

Mrs. Nathaniel Clark

THE THEATRE GUILD'S 14th opening of the season will attract a star studded audience to the Shubert Monday evening to see "Rebecca," a dramatization of the popular novel by its author, Daphne DuMaurier.

First nighters will include Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew N. Winslow, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Prouty, Mrs. J. F. F. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Nye, Mrs. Francis Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. E. Winslow Ware and Mrs. Henry F. Bigelow.

MRS. GORDON GARDINER of Boston and Gardiner, Me., is just back from London with a wealth of material to discuss with old friends at a tea to be given in her honor by the English Speaking Union at the Junior League next Thursday.

For several years she has worked with Dartmouth House in London and the British War Relief Society in the distribution of warm clothing and other goods sent by the thousands of war relief agencies in this country.

The tea is in charge of the war relief committee including Mrs. L. Tucker Burr, Mrs. Henry E. Chapin, Mrs. Franklin B. Davis, Mrs. Dows Dunham, Mrs. George F. Bemis, Miss Lydia Evans, Mrs. Charles E. Higginson, Miss Elma Jensen, Mrs. Henry McE. Parker, Miss Dorothy Rackemann, Miss Margaret Rice and Miss Elizabeth G. White.

SUNDAY DINNER will be early this week in the homes of many music lovers planning to attend the concert in Symphony Hall by the beloved violinist, Fritz Kreisler. This is one of the outstanding events in the Aaron Richmond Celebrity Series. Among those attending will be Mrs. G. H. Gray, Mrs. Leroy W. Stott, Miss Charlotte Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, Miss Katherine Hill, Mrs. Henry F. Colt and Mrs. Ralph K. Hyde.

F. D. Says Italy Can Help Self

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt, saying the American Army entered Italy not as conquerors but as liberators, has promised the Italian people they will be free to work out their own destiny, under a government of their own choosing, when the Allies defeat Germany.

"The United Nations are determined that every possible measure be taken to aid the Italian people directly and to give them an opportunity to help themselves," the President said in a radio address from the White House.

It was directed to the meeting of the Italian-American Labor Council in New York in acceptance of the council's Four Freedoms award.

Earlier, the President addressed chiefs of the diplomatic missions from the other American republics on the occasion of Columbus Day. Recalling the millions of Italians who have followed Columbus to the western hemisphere, he said:

"This is one of the many reasons why the forces of liberation have been welcomed so cordially by the Italian people after 22 years of fascistism."

What to Do With Cuspidors

DENVER, Oct. 13 (AP)—Homer Hilton, director of general products for the Office of Surplus Products in Washington, is a man who has to figure out such things as what to do with 14,000 surplus cuspidors—two piece models at that. As a man through whom many of Uncle Sam's odds and ends are disposed of, Hilton must decide how to dispose of 2,500,000 rusty gas cans, carrier pigeons, sentry dogs and puppies—to name a few.

Actually, Hilton said during a brief stop here, he has disposed of many of the articles. But he still worries about an over supply of tombstones.

C. A. Dickerson, director of paper and paper products for the OSP, can lend a sympathetic ear. Dickerson must worry about how to get rid of 4000 gallons of indelible ink—in five gallon containers. The cuspidors? They came from ships.

Hilton dismantled them. He sold the upper part for scrap; the bottom part went to swanky summer resorts for use as celery bowls.

Flying Priest Missing With Paratroopers

Yehudi Menuhin Finds Paris Same as Ever

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Yehudi Menuhin, just back from a six-week concert tour of England and the European battlefronts at the request of the British government, said life in Paris "is just as French as ever." His five concerts in Europe, Menuhin said, were the most thrilling. Two were in Brussels and Antwerp. Belgian civilians, he said, "were war weary, and for them, music was the only link with the past." In Antwerp, he said, German troops were three miles from the concert hall.

Ray Robinson Picked Over Izzy Jannazzo

By JACK CONWAY

RAY (SUGAR) ROBINSON is a favorite to win over Izzy Jannazzo in their ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tonight. Robinson is the best welter-weight in the world, but he will have to wait until Freddy Cochrane receives his discharge from the Navy before he will get a crack at the world's title.

There are many keen judges of boxing who also believe Robinson will go on to win the middle-weight crown.

Tony Zale, world's middle-weight champion, is also in the Navy. Zale, like Cochrane, will be unable to defend his title until the war ends.

Robinson recently received his honorable discharge from the Army. While waiting to get matches with Cochrane and Zale, he intends to meet all-comers in the ring. In his previous Boston appearances, Robinson displayed exceptional boxing ability and proved he is also a hard, clean puncher.

Jannazzo is the best opponent Robinson has been called upon to meet in this city. In his tussle here with Ralph Zaneli and Larry Anzalone, Jannazzo Izzy has the skill, speed and showed a world of boxing class, generalship to make things interesting for Robinson tonight.

If Jannazzo should be fortunate enough to win the decision, he will be in demand by promoters in all parts of the country. With everything to gain and very little to lose, Jannazzo is expected to furnish the best battle of his career tonight.

Help for Veterans

JANNAZZO came to Boston from New York, where he trained at Lou Stillman's Gym. Izzy is razor sharp in view of his strenuous training and also because he has been boxing steadily. Robinson has worked hard for tonight's bout, but due to his Army duties he has been unable to do much boxing in recent months.

Rip Valenti's Goodwin A. C. will donate 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the Garden tussle to the Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser. Ray Robinson is eager to help this worthy cause and he will give 20 per cent of his purse to the Disabled Veterans' Fund.

The bout will broadcast over a hook-up of 108 stations by the Gillette Safety Razor Co. Bill Corum, No. 1 sports columnist in America will furnish the color of the bout and his version of what is happening in the ring. The brilliant Don Dunphy will give the blow-by-blow description.

Fred Flvey, veteran of 16 years as Boston's favorite baseball announcer, tells me that, in his opinion, Bill Corum and Don Dunphy did the greatest World Series job he ever has listened to. Dunphy, according to Fred, was superb in that he, as a sports writer knew, what the listeners wanted and gave it without the incessant chatter that has marred so many other broadcasts.

So a treat is in store for you

Irish Heavy Favorite

NOTRE DAME is a heavy favorite for its game with Dartmouth at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon. The Irish have scored wins over Pitt and Tulane, while Dartmouth lost to Pennsylvania and was held to a tie by Holy Cross.

Ed McKeever will place a great Notre Dame team in the field despite war conditions. Many of the Notre Dame players are members of the Navy and Marine Corps and are taking college programs.

Bob Kelly, Notre Dame back, is All-American. Frank Danciewicz, former Lynn star, has also played brilliant football this fall.

Danciewicz has taken over the quarterback duties of Angelo Bertelli and Johnny Lujack. The Lynn youngster got off many long passes against Pitt and Tulane.

Walter Kennedy, director of public relations at Notre Dame, arrived in Boston yesterday. He was at the Huntington ave. station this morning when E. McKeever arrived here with the first section of Notre Dame players. This group included the civilian students who are on the club. The Navy and Marine personnel will arrive here tomorrow morning. Under Navy rules, they are obliged to attend their classes at Notre Dame today, and they will leave for Boston on an afternoon train.

The game has been a sellout for weeks. It will be the high spot for college football in New England this fall.

Eagles Seeking First Tonight

Seeking their initial victory of the season, the Boston College Eagles will play host to City College of New York under the lights at Braves Field tonight.

Leon "Chief" Miller, C.C.N.Y. mentor, will field a team composed of two veteran linemen and freshmen, three sophomores and a senior.

Other than sophomore Ed Schechter, who will quarterback the New York outfit, the Gotham backfield is an all-freshman group, with Frank Moran and Mary Kleinbaum at the half-back positions and Al Petronici at fullback.

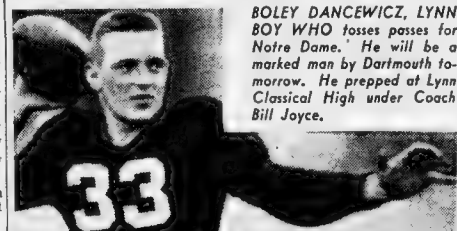

For the Eight-men Ed Cronin will be at the signal-caller slot with Joe Elliot and Tom Carney at half and Jim Casey at fullback. John Callahan and Henry Michaelowicz will fill the end jobs, and the rest of the line will have Lawler and King at tackles, Boleyko and Sammartino at guards, and co-Capt. George Donelan at center.

Notre Dame Unfolds New Kickoff Wrinkle

By HUCK FINNEGAN

A new wrinkle in kickoffs and a most entertaining one, will be introduced at Fenway Park tomorrow when Notre Dame makes its Boston football debut against Dartmouth (2:30). It is the brainchild of Ed McKeever, Notre Dame duration coach, and is guaranteed to make Dartmouth, like the music of a decade ago, "go round and round and come out here."

BOLEY DANCEWICZ, LYNN BOY WHO tosses passes for Notre Dame. He will be a marked man by Dartmouth tomorrow. He prepped at Lynn Classical High under Coach Bill Joyce.

It is football's "Robomb" but unlike Hitler's jet-propelled V-1, this not-too-secret weapon is propelled by the toe of Kelly, Gasparella or Danciewicz. This is the principle:

The ball is placed flat on the turf, its ends facing the goalposts. Up runs, say, Kelly with Paddockian speed. His right foot dents the end of the ball facing him. The spheroid doesn't soar majestically goalward like the kicks of Augie Lio or Ken Strong; no, it travels like a bullet barely two feet in the air. In some cases the ball hits the opposing center on the chest before he can duck, and Notre Dame calmly picks it up on the rebound. She's done that twice in two games. If the opposing center is fortunate enough to duck and thus escape decapitation, the ball skips and twirls this way and that like a "scaler" tossed on a pond by your young brother. It is as hard to pick up as a one-hopper off Hornsby's bat, and long runbacks are as scarce as seats for the game.

IT PAYS DIVIDENDS

"We've kicked off 14 times in two games," said advance agent Walter Kennedy, Notre Dame '34. "Twice we've recovered fumbles on opponents' 40 or 45-yard stripe. On four other occasions the momentum of the kicker-off carried him down the field so fast he made the tackle in the shadow of the goal post."

No repercussions, boomerangs or explosive ricochets?

"To be sure," replied the affable Kennedy. "We unveiled it against Pitt (56-0). Tulane scouts were in the stands. We played Tulane next (26-0). We had forgotten to patent the weapon, and those Tulane smarties tossed it right in our teeth. First time they kicked off to us the ball bounced off Ray (N. D. center) and Tulane recovered."

But why let the feline out of the bag before kickoff time? "Dartmouth scouted us at Tulane," replied Kennedy.

One change in ND's starting lineup: Pat Filley replaces Mestragelo at left guard. Discharged from the Marines after unsuccessful knee operations, Filley is 20 pounds under weight at 175 but is an inspirational leader, like HC's Tom Kenney. . . . Joe Gasparella, 6-4, 210-pound, 17-year-old Danciewicz spare, is a "better passer at this stage of his career than either Bertelli or Lujack," says Kennedy. "He may very well develop into the world's best passer—long or short, soft or hard." Gasparella entered N. D. as a center last spring was seen forward passing by Leahy and McKeever and was promptly shifted to qb. He was the regular qb. all spring and all summer and for one week this fall. Then McKeever felt he was getting complacent, elevated Danciewicz, and the Lynn boy made the most of his unexpected opportunity. That very afternoon, Danciewicz threw seven T. D. passes, scored twice himself and did such a bangup job against Pitt and Tulane Gasparella hasn't been able to oust him.

Eventually Danciewicz may be shifted to lb. (he's great defensively) and Gasparella to qb. . . . Kelly, Danciewicz and Sullivan could make the best teams we ever had," says Kennedy. . . . Gasparella is from Vandergrift, Pa., and was sent to Notre Dame by Lujack.

Big Ten to Ban Frosh After War

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Take it from Athletic Com. John L. Griffith, the Big Ten conference will blot out the varsity twinkle of freshman football stars in the postwar era.

Griffith is pleased as punch over the showing of such yearlings as Earl Girard of Wisconsin, Johnny Yungwirth of Northwestern, Paul Patterson and Claude Young of Illinois, and Harry Jagade of Indiana, but he thinks the freshman ban should be restored after the war.

"Freshman players have really surprised us of us with their maturity and ability to take varsity hold," declared Griffith, "but logic dictates that their use should not be extended beyond the war."

There will be no need then to "rush" players onto varsity squads, he asserted, adding that continued use of freshmen eventually would engender a practice of proselytizing that would ruin the college game.

Griffith said he had not sounded conference coaches on the subject, but he was confident the league would "save the dangers" of using freshmen in intercollegiate play as long ago as 1906 would not be swayed by the current bars-down experiment.

N. D. Arrives

Notre Dame's civilian football players (23) detrained at 10:30 this morning at Huntington ave. station and repaired immediately to Hotel Kenmore. Leading the husky band was Ed McKeever, duration coach, who in '39 and '40 was at Boston College with Frank Leahy. Notre Dame was to work out at Fenway Park at 2:30. Dartmouth was to arrive at 4:00, check in at the Parker House and stage a short drill at Fenway Park at 4:45.

GREEN PICKS STEBBINS

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 13 (AP)—Charles H. Stebbins, a Marine trainee transfer from Massachusetts State yesterday, was elected captain of Dartmouth's undefeated soccer team.

Hyannis Maritime Team Has the Power

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Something new has been added to the already impressive list of school football teams in Eastern Massachusetts.

The new outfit is the Massachusetts Maritime Academy at Hyannis which plays its first game tomorrow against powerful Exeter Academy at the latter's home field.

The new squad under the direction of Lt. Com. Ed Ellis, USNR, is impressive on paper. The line averages 200 pounds and the backfield is only slightly lighter.

The outfit has a strictly local touch as no less than 10 of the starting group are Greater Boston boys—all well known local figures in high school competition.

Bill McNamara, football and hockey captain at Melrose High, under Harold Poole and Dave Gavin, is the outstanding back on the team. Big Bill will do most of the ball carrying and all the passing and in the slot as hard as he hit it while at Melrose, he'll never be stopped. His passing leaves little to be desired and if he has even fair ends to catch his passes, MMA will be the equal of any high school or small college team in the state.

Bill Place, who quarterbacked Somerville back in '35, will be the man in the slot in Ellis' T formation and the former Red and Blue signal caller will carry on the breakaway plays.

At the half, Ellis has Dick Lawless, Wellesley '42, who will do the kicking, and Perry Kenakis, whose 188 pounds will come in handy on his blocking assignments.

WHAT A LINE!

George Hill, 185, and Tommy Murphy, 175, will hold down the starting wing berths. Bob Crowell, 181, and Herb Anderson, 190, are the tackles. The pride of last year's Newton team, 180 pound Dick Boulter and 197 pound Jim Dagianis will be the guards and Bill Festa, 197, holds down the center's job.

The second team, composed mostly of Greater Boston boys, boasts of as much weight as the "varsity" and will see plenty of action.

Most of the important games were played on the holiday and the games of importance are few and far between for tomorrow.

The big game of all, locally, is the Brockton-Newton clash at Newton. The Garden City club has had a great season so far, dropping a decision only to Melrose. And that came on failure to get those extra points.

Brockton has had tough going so far, dropping a close one to Quincy in the opener and then being eased out by Medford on his lastest last week.

Marion Roberts has the squad at its peak for this one and the shoe City may spring an upset.

Charley White is the tough luck coach of them all. His Haverhill team, which hasn't won a game, meets another tartar this week in Lynn Classical. First Haverhill lost to Weymouth by one touchdown; then held Melrose scoreless at the half only to be finally overpowered 10 to 6. Last week was the hard one. Haverhill was leading at the half by a touchdown over Malden and when it looked as though it would be the margin of victory, the Golden Tornadoes came off the floor to score twice.

Although the team hasn't won yet it must be a titan itself to hold the big schools as it did. Mike Gigliotti is ready and Haverhill should finally crash the win column against Bill Joyce's North Shore crowd.

The terror of the South Shore, little Weymouth, is due to get rolling again. The Tornadoes riding high for five years, finally were stopped not once but twice in a row. Whether it was just a let down or the law of averages catching up, nobody knows. But Paul Sweeney reports his squad in good shape and ready to go and North Quincy will be in for an interesting afternoon.

Sammy Baugh May Face Yanks

There is a distinct possibility that Sammy Baugh, passer extraordinary, will be in the lineup of the Washington Redskins when they tackle Boston's Yanks at Fenway Park, Sunday.

Reports International News Service: "Baugh, who is in class 2-C because of his big cattle ranch in Texas, has been advised by his draft board chairman that he will be free to play week-end football without being reclassified (to 1-A) but must stay on the job as a ranchman."

Baugh immediately notified team-owner George Marshall that he hopes to make plane connections that will enable him to play here Sunday. He said whether or not he can make it, he definitely will appear in all of the team's six home games.

HE'S IN TRIM

Baugh is in trim. He played with the Redskins in all their exhibition games, was notified by his draft board that unless he quit football and stuck to the ranch he would be put in 1-A. Thus he has been away from the gridiron only two weeks.

Should he arrive here in time for Sunday's game, the Redskins will have two A-1 passers to harass the Yanks. Frank Filchok, completed 25 out of 33 passes against the Eagles for an overall gain of 291 yards. He passes better from the "T" formation (under the center) than Baugh, and probably will get the starting assignment.

The Yanks have been drilling, drilling, drilling all week in a determined effort to win their first home game. They have lost to Eagles and Giants. They have only Redskins and Brooklyn remaining.

Lowrey Out of Army, Back to Cubs in '45

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (INS) — Harry "Peanuts" Lowrey, former Chicago Cub outfielder, will return to the team next spring, the club's management revealed today.

Lowrey has received a medical discharge from the Army, it was announced. He hit .292 in 1943, his last year with the Cubs, before entering the service. He is now at his Los Angeles home.

New Bowling Top

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—The nation's bowling teams had a new mark to shoot at today, a 3211 posted by the Thompson restaurants quintet, the highest series of the season on the basis of latest A. B. C. records. Of the 15 games, only three were under 200, while Jake Lenten posted a 700 three-game total to lead his team. The previous season's high was a 3,207, also rolled by a Chicago team.

Grid Loop Head Sees Plenty of Talent

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 13 (AP)—Promoters of the new United States Football League say they're not worried about any lack of player talent for the 10 teams with which the league plans to start operations next fall. Roland D. Payne, Pittsburgh, organizer of the circuit, said today that replies from 1500 members of college and service teams in the country indicate there'll be plenty of material.

Robbins Captures Two Racing Crowns

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 13 (AP)—Charlie Robbins, of Chelsea Naval Hospital and this city, captured the National A. A. U. and New England 20-kilometer crowns yesterday afternoon by spread-eagling a field of 30 in a road race over the streets of Providence.
